

VOTE IN CALIFORNIA IS NEARLY TWO IN ONE IN FAVOR OF COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Plurality 16,406 in Two-Thirds State. Clark Leads Wilson

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Approximately two-thirds of California, 2,169 precincts out of 3,700, give Roosevelt 98,109; Taft, 51,703; La Follette, 31,196; Clark, 26,384; Wilson, 11,997.

Roosevelt's plurality on the face of the returns is 46,406. His indicated plurality is between 60,000 and 65,000. The precincts reported are the most populous in the state.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Fifty precincts out of 386, San Francisco county, Roosevelt, 2,036; Taft, 1,409; La Follette, 945; Clark, 734; Wilson, 309.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Sixty-two precincts Los Angeles city complete give Roosevelt 3,438; Taft 1,414; La Follette, 845.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 14.—Returns from one precinct give Roosevelt, 63; Taft, 52; La Follette, 39; Wilson, 11; Clark, 39.

FRENO, Cal., May 14.—First two complete precincts Fresno county give Roosevelt 49; Taft, 17; La Follette 18; Wilson, 13; Clark 13.

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 14.—First four precincts in San Jose Roosevelt 231; Taft, 154; La Follette 153; Wilson 157; Clark 47.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Taft forces concede the loss of Pasadena to Roosevelt by more than 3 to 1.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14.—Theodore Roosevelt probably will be in control of all the eight district Republican conventions to be held in Minnesota tomorrow and his followers probably will control the state convention which is to be convened here Thursday at noon according to the statements tonight of the leaders of the Roosevelt, Taft and La Follette factions.

The fifth district convention was held here yesterday. Roosevelt delegates to the national convention being elected.

Maryland instructs for Roosevelt. BALTIMORE, May 14.—Delegates to the eight selected by friends of President Taft and eight by supporters of Theodore Roosevelt but all instructed to vote for Colonel Roosevelt at Chicago, were elected today at the Maryland Republican state convention.

Although the Taft men controlled a majority of the 129 delegates so far as their personal affiliations were concerned they made no effort to defeat the instructions of the preference primaries which were for Colonel Roosevelt and a plank was put in the platform pledging him the undivided support of the Maryland delegation.

The Roosevelt forces yielded the position of national committeemen and pledged themselves to elect a Taft man William P. Jackson Governor of Maryland through one of the delegates.

Large chosen today.

Only Wars on Crooks. As for the allegation that I stir up class hatred I can only answer that there is not a class in this country against whom I war except the class of crooks, financial crooks and political crooks, big crooks and little crooks. Against all these I do preach war.

Friends I hold that this is infinitely more than a mere factional fight. I hold that this is infinitely more than any ordinary party contest. I insist that we stand for the principles of progressive Republicanism, and who therefore stand for making the principles of Abraham Lincoln living principles.

able to exclude him will they do so at a separate convention it was said.

The action of the Roosevelt men was taken after the opening meeting of the state central committee at which it was decided to station police at the theater in which the convention is to be held and to let no one in without a ticket from the committee.

As the committee is three-fourths Taft in complexion and over 300 seats are expected the Roosevelt men decided they had small chance to get in and at first determined to hire another hall. The hired hall however seemed to be taken later on.

Conferees Unable to Agree. The state committee removed Secretary E. C. Snyder at Seattle, a Roosevelt man and appointed in his stead George L. Breslin a Taft supporter. The committee appointed five Roosevelt leaders and five Taft leaders to hold a conference to agree if possible on a division of the delegates. The Taft conferees proposed that each candidate take seven delegates. This was rejected by the Roosevelt men who proposed instead that Roosevelt have 16 delegates and Taft two. The Taft men rejected this offer and the conference adjourned deadlocked.

This afternoon the committee began consideration of contested delegations taking up King county first.

ANACONDA, Mont., May 14.—The Deer Lodge county convention instructed today 29 delegates to the state convention for President Taft. There was no Roosevelt support.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 15.—Four delegates from the state at large to the national Republican convention instructed to vote for President Taft.

LEVEE NEAR NEW ORLEANS BREAKS

10,000 SQUARE MILES WILL BE AFFECTED

Grevasse Is Rapidly Widening Was Scene of Worst Damage in 1903

NEW ORLEANS, May 4.—Approximately 60,000 persons and 10,000 square miles of territory will be affected by a break in the Mississippi river levee on the west bank, 25 miles north of here tonight. The crevasse which started at 8 o'clock was 200 feet wide late tonight. This, the Hymelia levee, was the scene of the worst break of the flood of 1903.

A boat with laborers has gone to try to make repairs. The revenue cutter Windom probably will be rushed to the scene with supplies tomorrow.

NEW ORLEANS, May 4.—The crest of the disastrous Mississippi flood is passing out through the gateway of the Gulf of Mexico south of New Orleans, and the Gulf. At least the river is now receding slightly. For the whole of the day today not a single inch of water between New Orleans and St. Louis has receded a single inch at most points and the lake still was shown.

KING FREDERICK VIII OF DENMARK

King Frederick of Denmark Dies Suddenly At Hamburg

LONDON, May 15.—Wednesday.—King Frederick VIII of Denmark died suddenly this morning at Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Germany, May 15.—(Wednesday)—King Frederick VIII of Denmark arrived at the Hamburger Hof hotel yesterday and died during the night.

Christian Frederick was proclaimed king of Denmark on June 3, 1863. He was king of Denmark and Norway until his death on January 14, 1906, after the death of Christian IX, the king who was his father. He was a man of great simplicity. ## FRANCE RID OF NOTORIOUS RANDALLS

Last of Fiendish Desperadoes Killed in Sensational Fight With Police

Explosives Wreck Refuge

After Eight-Hour Battle Garner and Vallet Found in Ruins of House

Thousands of Police Attack

All the forces for the protection of society had failed to dislodge the desperadoes during the day. Several thousand police, gendarmes and souas tried for hours to shoot the desperadoes or blow up the building with explosives. Three policemen had fallen from the desperadoes' bullets but though the villa was damaged by dynamite the desperadoes held their own and showed no signs of surrendering.

Unlike Bonnot, whose refuge was dynamited at Chateau de la Reine, Garner made his last stand in a small villa in the suburbs of Paris. He was surrounded by other buildings making a small, difficult and dangerous Bonnot and Dubols fought in a garage which could be approached from all sides.

Bonnot, the "demon chauffeur" was remarkable for his skill at the wheel of automobiles by the employment of which the band committed outrages and made their escape. Garner especially was disguise. He went so far as to mutilate his eyelids to change his appearance and, by resorting to every scheme exploited in detective fiction, he succeeded in evading the police dragnet which had been spread over Paris and the suburbs.

Trailed Through a Woman. Garner's mistake came in trying to negotiate stolen securities at a branch of a big banking house where he and his companions, Vallet and Villlemie were tracked to Nogent. The three who are decided bandits died their last gasp.

An indication by the woman Villlemie enabled the police to fix their trail to a certainty.

M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, was notified and decided to capture the bandits if necessary.

Again as in the case of the battle at Chateau de la Reine the efforts of the police and military were greatly hampered by the vast crowds that gathered in the adjoining streets. Attempts were made to blow up the building by throwing dynamite.

Taft Attacks Administration Whose Record Elected Him-T. R.

CANTON, O., May 14.—The first day of the Roosevelt campaign was tonight with his first prepared speech in the state. It was a day of speeches in quick succession as Colonel Roosevelt was hurried through the eastern part of the state to keep up the schedule. This called for 13 speeches and the colonel made several more than that. There were large crowds wherever he spoke. Colonel Roosevelt covered part of the ground which President Taft went over and war paths crossed often.

The former president Roosevelt's track upon his successor. He asserted that he would not reply to the things which Mr. Taft said about him so far as they were personal but would confine himself to political principles.

A new point which Colonel Roosevelt developed was his denial of the charge of President Taft to criticize acts of the Roosevelt administration. He took the ground that as a member of the Roosevelt cabinet Mr. Taft was a part of the administration and as a candidate for president he made his campaign as the ruler of the country.

He charged that the president had "joined the enemy."

Colonel Roosevelt went on to say that the "booses" who were against Taft four years ago, had not changed, but that it was Mr. Taft who had changed.

Stand by His Administration. I stand by all my administration. I stand by it and if I elected president I shall try to administer the government in the interest

RICHESON CLOSE TO DEATH

Slayer of Avis Linnell Removed to State Prison—Sentenced to Die Next Week

BOSTON, May 14. Charles A. Richeson, slayer of Avis Linnell, died tonight within a dozen paces of the death house at the Charlestown state prison. He was pulled from his cell in the Charlestown street and landed in an office and hurried away in the jail van to the prison. Some time next week probably either on Monday or Tuesday, shortly after midnight, he will die in the electric chair if the orders of the court are carried out.

ridges from the adjacent viaduct and a perfect hail of bullets was thrown into the house.
An armed force, holding torches rushed into the ruins and discovered the two bandits on the floor in a room.
Garnier was naked save for a few scattered rags. He appeared to be dead. Vallet was crawling.
The crowd of spectators, now wildly enraged, rushed up and tried to seize the bandits. With great difficulty the police drove them back and placed the bodies in automobiles.

Work Frantically to Rescue Workmen Entombed in Mine

DULUTH, Minn., May 14.—Fed through a pipe driven down to them, and encouraged by mine officials who call down that many miners are working to reach them, six of 13 men entombed at the 2,000-foot level of the Norrie mine at Ironwood, Mich., last night, tonight are imprisoned in a small space with five of their comrades dead beside them. Two other bodies were brought to the surface.
The accident, last midnight, some three days away on the 2,000-foot level. Many men were at work there. New timbers recently had been installed and the workings were considered in perfect condition.
An avalanche was loosened into the pit. Men scattered in both directions. The majority escaped up the right path but 13 blundered into one of the many cross sections of the mine, considering themselves safe.
Then with a roar that could be heard at the surface the roof dropped down for yards and the 13 men were trapped. Two of the 13 had started down the passageway and were over- come at the edge of the cave-in and killed. Later searching parties found the bodies.
Five others were killed where they stood. Six backed close to the wall and stood still. The falling roof missed them.
Then from the outside a many-sectioned pipe was started downward. Soon it reached the men and the mine officials learned that six were alive. Double crews renewed the fight to save the lives of the six remaining. But many yards of broken timbers, rock and ore must be lifted out of the passage and a new roof built as the diggers go.
The mine is controlled by the Oliver Mining Co., of the United States Steel corporation and at the offices it was said there was some hope that the six would be rescued.

At 2 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning it was reported the six men had been rescued.

scheme of the Industrial Workers of the World, the platform committee, the majority's leaders said, would submit a plan of action reflecting the Socialist program, but ignoring the demands for immediate action for an immediate upset of the capitalist system and taking over of the means of production by the "workers."
A show of hands was expected upon the request of William D. Haywood, a leader of the Industrial Workers and a member of the executive committee of the Socialist party that the executive committee report at once to the convention on the telegraphic plea for an appropriation in support of the "free speech fight" at San Diego, Cal.
The executive committee has already authorized an appeal to the 1,500 local Socialist organizations for financial aid in the defense of 100 or more men arrested in San Diego charged with inciting riots, but Congressman Berger has announced the "old line" Socialists will block if they can any further support of "direct action" campaigns instigated by the industrial workers at San Diego or elsewhere.
Mayor L. J. Duncan of Butte, Mont., an avowed "revolutionary," elected to the platform committee, said he would support Haywood and sympathizers with the industrial workers' aims. ## VETERANS ELECTS OFFICERS TODAY

BOULDER, May 14.—The members of the Colorado and Wyoming department of the G. A. R. carried out their program today without a hitch. A warm sun quickly drove away the snow and dispelled all fears that inclement weather would interfere with the meetings. The day's business transacted was all routine.
Elaborate preparations have been made for the festivities tomorrow. Every commercial organization in the county will participate in the parade. Gov. John E. Shafroth will address the veterans.
Keen interest centers in the election of officers tomorrow by both the G. A. R. and the women's auxiliary.

ACTIVE WORK STARTS

He returned the first of the week from the east, where he spent the winter. The executive committee of the carnival is composed of Fred C. Matthews, chairman, W. S. Dunning, R. L. Holland, Charles T. Wilder, David Elliot, A. G. Sharp, R. O. Giddings, Willis R. Armstrong, D. V. Donaldson, Lewis G. Carpenter and H. T. Lowe. They have a big, hard job on their hands this year if they excel or even come up to the carnival last year, because that was the first one in a good many years, and it celebrated an event, the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the city. It ran six days and was of such varied interest that it left much little new ground to be covered this year. However, the present committee has an active body of hustlers, and it hard work can make the carnival a go, then it is a success right now.
Two very important changes regarding the carnival have already been announced. First, the dates are August 27, 28 and 29, only three days. Last year it ran six, but by crowding it into three days it can be made snappier, and not a single feature will have to be repeated. It is the intention that the carnival shall be the crowning event of a big summer tourist season.

Manitou Gets One Day

Second, Colorado Springs does not intend to "hog" it all. Of the three days one of them is to be devoted to Manitou, all the events of that day being pulled off at the mountain resort.

The work of carrying out the various features of the carnival will be subdivided, with members of the executive committee in charge. A perfect organization will be effected, and there is no doubt but that the citizens generally will line up under them. Chairman Matthews will announce his committee in a short time.
This year there is nothing to divide the attention of the people of the Pike Peak region, as there was last. The carnival is the first in the field, and undoubtedly any other state gatherings that may be planned will be made to conform to it. The managers of the Denver daily newspapers, the passenger department of the leading railroads and others prominent in boosting the state made Mr. Rogers promises during the last few days that they will give every aid in their power to make the Pike Peak region carnival the success that it will deserve.

It is up to the local people to back the show with energy and money. There was more enthusiasm among the people after the carnival last year about boosting the county than following any event ever held here. The committee is going to be economical, yet liberal enough to get the right kind of attractions. It is not yet time to announce plans, but it can be said that they are negotiating for some new and big ones.

The committee in anxious to make a start that will build up the carnival along some specific line to identify it in the public mind. For instance, Pasadena has its flower parade on New Year's day, and it is verities that California is a land of flowers at a time when the eastern country is buried in snow. Portland has its rose carnival, which advertises the marvelous floral beauty of that climate. It has been suggested that the now rapidly fading Indian life of the west be made the feature of the Pike Peak region show.

FOREST FIRES IN WASHINGTON

SEATTLE, Wash., May 14.—Forest fires, fostered by the exceptionally hot, dry weather of the last few days, are sweeping over wide areas in King and Snohomish counties, driving families from their homes in the clearings.
The worst of the fires reported is burning in the vicinity of Meadowdale, on the Great Northern railway, 18 miles from Seattle. Members of the family of E. J. Morrow had to run for their lives when their house was destroyed.
The works of the Standard Logging company near Hazel burned today with eight carloads of shingles and a long trestle was destroyed near Oso. The camps of the Timson Logging company near Bryant were wiped out.
Forty men are fighting fires on the north fork of the Snohomish, in King county. One prominent source of the fires is the extensive clearing of lands, more of which is being done this year than ever before.

UPLIFT NEGROES BY ENCOURAGING FARMING

In Rural Districts Colored Men Is at His Best; in City He Is at His Worst—Booker T. Washington

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 14.—Uplift the social, moral and physical life of negroes by encouraging agriculture among them—was Booker T. Washington's message in his address, before the African Methodist Episcopal church conference here tonight.
"In the rural districts," he said, "the negro is at his best in soul and body. In the city he is usually at his worst."
"If we would save the negroes, 82 percent of whom live in the country, they must be taught that when the Bible says 'The earth is full of thy riches,' it means that the earth is full of corn, potatoes, peas, cotton, chickens and cows, and that these riches must be gotten out by the hand of man and turned into beautiful church buildings and righteous useful living."

MORE DELEGATES PUT INTO CLARK COLUMN

CONCORD, N. H., May 14.—Four delegates at-large and two from each of the two congressional districts to the Democratic convention at Baltimore, pledged but "morally bound" by a preferential vote in the convention to vote for Speaker Champ Clark for the presidential nomination, were elected by the Democrats of New Hampshire today. The delegates are: At large—Clarence E. Carr, John R. Jameson, Eugene E. Reed and Henri T. Ledoux.
First district—John R. Willis and Edward W. Townsend.
Second district—George W. Gregor and Guy R. Cutler.
The two district conventions were held immediately after the state convention which was harmonious.
The Clark was clearly predominant, and by a rising vote the convention expressed its preference for Clark. In its platform the convention favored a six-year term for presidents and ineligibility for a second term.

New Mexico Supports Clark

CLOVIS, N. M., May 14.—The first New Mexico state Democratic convention selected eight delegates and eight alternates to the national Democratic convention at Baltimore at 10 o'clock tonight and instructed them for Champ Clark. The following are the delegates named:
J. B. Hartmann of Farmington; A. B. McCreary, Albuquerque; Felix Martinez Mora county; John W. D. Vedder, Las Vegas; John I. Hinkle, Hagerman; J. A. Mahoney, Deming; T. W. Medley, Socorro; H. L. Bickley, Raton.
The alternates are: James W. Norman, Santa Fe; A. T. Hannett, Gallup; F. W. Robertson, Raton; James D. Hand, Las Vegas; M. Cleo Stewart, Carlsbad; D. F. Angier, Silver City; J. H. Latham, Lake Valley, and Felix Garcia, Taos.
The instructions of the convention are that the New Mexico delegation vote for Clark as long as he is before the convention. The convention declined, by decisive vote, to reorganize the state committee at the present meeting.

Utah Wants Progressive

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 14.—The only restriction imposed upon the 16 delegates, each with half a vote, who will represent the Democracy of Utah, at the national convention in Baltimore, is that they shall support a progressive candidate on a progressive platform.
An effort in the resolutions committee to commit the delegates to the presidential candidacy of Woodrow Wilson commanded but two votes. The big fight in the Democratic state

PERFECT HEALTH IS IMPOSSIBLE IN LARGE CITIES

The Human Machine Will Not Run True and Strong Day After Day

UNDER THE UN-NATURAL STRAIN

Immense Number of Debility Victims in America Is Appalling.

In a recent interview one of the specialists who are introducing the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" to the American public has said this to say: "The manner of living in the larger cities of the United States is such that perfect health is almost impossible; the human machine will not run true and strong day after day with its vitality continually being sapped by the constant nervous strain. Irregular hours, hastily eaten food, the wear and tear and rush of city life, are largely responsible for the immense number of dull, listless, half sick people of the present generation. Debility, or a 'run down' condition as it is called, is everywhere. Half of the people I see in street cars, restaurants, theaters or on the streets, are unmistakably in a debilitated condition, with their nerves in such a state that they either wish to lie down and rest or rush after some excitement."
"Any one who has met a constant stream of nervous debilitated people as I have since I began my present work, can tell a man or woman in this condition at a glance. I wish to emphatically state that the number of debilitated people in the larger American cities is appalling."
"Tona Vita," the medicine I am helping to introduce, is going to combat this condition. I believe it to be the best preparation ever before sold to the public for debility and other troubles that go hand in hand with this disease."
"No one can hope to enjoy life or meet with much success if he is tired all the time, has little ambition, and feels continually depressed in mind and body. Every half sick, worn out man and woman owe it to themselves and their families to give 'Tona Vita' a trial. If the tonic does not make life more worth living, and bring back the healthy energetic spirits that are now lacking, we will gladly refund the price."
"We will meet the public daily at the Robinson Drug Company between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m., during our stay in Colorado Springs."

convention here today was on the election of a national committeeman to succeed Frank K. Nebeker. The position went to William R. Wallace of Salt Lake City, after three ballots, in which Samuel A. King was his leading opponent.

The platform recommended by the committee on resolutions advocated a progressive income tax, direct legislation and other progressive measures, and was adopted without discussion by the convention.

Clark Leads in Nevada

RENO, Nev., May 14.—Early returns indicate the Democratic preferential vote in the Nevada primaries for Champ Clark. Washoe, Storey, Elko and Humboldt counties give heavy majorities for Clark. White Pine county almost entirely committed to Wilson, the vote in Ely standing 134 for Wilson to 4 for Clark.

MANY KILLED IN CYCLONE

BUDAPEST, May 14.—A number of villages, including Balvanjles, Valaja and others in Transylvania, were practically razed to the ground and many of the inhabitants killed or injured by a cyclone which swept over the district last evening. Out of 350 houses 330 were reduced to ruins. Four bodies have thus far been extracted from the debris and the number of those injured is very large.

Other Villages, Including Graba, Ufalau and Batonya, Were Also Greatly Damaged by the Storm

Count Bethlen, the governor of the province, has ordered all the troops stationed in the district to assist the firemen in salvage work.

Should Admit Poor to Hospitals As Guests of Church, Says Report

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 14.—That the poor should be admitted to the hospitals of the Methodist Episcopal church when recommended by their pastors, under proper rules and regulations, not as charity patients but as guests of the church, is embodied in the report of the committee on temporary economy, to be made to the general conference in session here. Included in the report also is a recommendation that each conference in the United States become the patron of at least one hospital, and that no hospital hereafter be established without the approval of the conference in whose bounds it is located.
That there is a great problem before the book committee with respect to a number of church periodicals which are said to be losing money for the church is indicated in the report. The committee advocates that a tone be created in the periodicals that shall lie between the deadness of officialism on one side and sensationalism on the other, and also that a commission be named to study the difficulties before the periodicals and present a plan next April which will do away with the monetary loss.

FEMININE BRAIN SMALLER

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—Dr. Edward Anthony Spitzka, professor of anatomy at Jefferson Medical college, who has examined hundreds of human brains, declares that woman can never be the equal of man in abstract mental conception.
Dr. Spitzka's examinations have shown no notable difference between the brains of the sexes, except that the feminine brain is smaller and convoluted more broadly and more simple.
"The female brain," he says, "is usually characterized by a smaller frontal lobe."
The frontal lobe is concerned more with the abstract concept, and, therefore, it would seem that the male is possessed of greater capacity for abstract conception. The average feminine brain is smaller, less richly convoluted and less completely fissured than that of man."

WOMAN IN MURDER CASE

DENVER, May 14.—Just as the testimony in the trials of Edward L. Selward and Oscar Cook for the murder of Policeman William McPherson and Andrew Loyd was placed today, Deputy District Attorney McCormick, turning from the telephone, announced that a woman had declared over the telephone she had seen Selward put Cook on a Cherokee street car directly after the shooting.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Chiles will ask Judge Chattock to reopen the case this afternoon. It is strongly corroborative of the story told by Selward and denied by Cook to the effect that Selward was overtaken by Cook on Alameda avenue after leaving the saloon where Cook had killed two men and that they went together through the Alameda subway where Cook got on a car.

From the New York Sun.

Have You Hemorrhoids?

Many persons have gums that bleed easily—loose or sensitive teeth—at times a discharge of pus from around the roots of the teeth and yet do not realize that they have that destructive disorder, Piorrhoea. Gradually the gums recede, the teeth become loose, sore and in a few days the pain discharge, pus, blood and being swallowed causes serious digestive troubles.

Our treatment gives instant relief, stops the bleeding, hardens the gums, removes the soreness and tightens the teeth. We guarantee a cure in every case, in from a week to six weeks treatment, at a cost of from $5.00 to $25.00 for the course of treatment. We are the only dentists in town who will tell you definitely what the cost will be, and the time necessary for treatment.

We have had hundreds of permanent cures without a failure in the past eight years. You are taking no chances, neither will you be experimented upon if you entrust your case to us. It takes more than a lot of unnecessary instruments and a few lessons from a dentist who is neither a graduate nor licensed to practice, to enable a dentist to cure Piorrhoea.

We are making gold and porcelain crowns, dental bridge work, plates, gold and silver fillings and all dental work of the highest grade, by modern painless methods, at prices that are right.

GIRL TO REFORM SCHOOL

As a result of the arrest of what is said by the police to be an organized gang of youthful thieves, Hazel Linthum, the 16-year-old Colorado City girl, who was picked up with two of the band in Pueblo last week, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Little to the Girls Industrial school, at Morrison, and information were filed against six of the youths.

Ed Hoffman, 19, who was arrested in Pueblo with Peter Martinka and the Linthum girl, is charged with a statutory crime, and also with grand larceny; the latter being the theft of a $40 Pierce bicycle, belonging to Galen Bivoyes, May 6.

Martinka faces two charges of grand larceny—for the theft of a $45 Stry bicycle from D. F. Coffey, May 8, and a $25 Iver Johnson, April 15. A charge of grand larceny, also was filed against Lee Jamieson, for the theft of an Iver Johnson wheel, valued at $25, from W. J. Lightner, April 15.

Information was filed in the county court against three other youths, Charles Smith, Andrew Cizmark and Carl Petrum, on evidence secured from Hoffman and Martinka. They are charged with burglary and larceny. The trio are said to have broken into the tent house of Fred Thordensburg of Manitou, May 8.

SNOW STORM BENEFICIAL

The worst snow storm known in Colorado Springs in May since 1874 ended yesterday morning, and by noon the sun had melted almost all the snow, making the authors resemble small ants. With fair weather today, the snow will completely disappear and the city will once more take on her spring appearance.

Practically the only damage done by the storm was the breaking of hundreds of telephone wires in the residential district, putting about 1,500 telephones out of service. A gang of 50 linemen was at work all day yesterday, and about 650 telephones were repaired. Unless another storm strikes the city today, the company will have its usual service restored by tonight.

The chief trouble with the telephone system was in the breaking of the wires leading into the residences and the burning out of the telephones, caused by the contact of the telephone wires with the high-tension wires, many of which broke.

The weather accompanying the storm was not cold enough for frost on the western slope, and did not damage the fruit trees either there or in the Fremont district. Smudge pots were not necessary. The snow and rain insured plenty of moisture for the dry farming district in the eastern part of the state, and bumper crops are predicted for the year.

ORGAN RECITAL MONDAY

Alexander Pirie has announced a recital to be held in St. Stephen's church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The program is of unusual interest, including as it does so many of the different styles of organ compositions, and should appeal to all music lovers. The varied nature of the selections gives full scope for Mr. Pirie's ability and versatility as an organist. He will be assisted by Miss Virginia Estill, soprano, and Lyubly Stanley, tenor.

TO HOLD REVIVALS

A series of revival meetings will be held in the Swedish Baptist church in this city, beginning tonight and continuing every evening during the week, except Saturday. The Rev. Carl O. Dahlen, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church of Denver, will have charge of the meetings, and will preach every evening. Prof. C. O. Larson of Chicago will have charge of the music. Mr. Dahlen will remain here over Sunday.

FATHER VAUGHN SPEAKS
SUNDAY AT NEW BURNS

The noted "Mayfair Jesuit," Father Bernard Vaughn, will speak at the Burns theater Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock, on "The Matchless Soldier Maid, Joan of Arc."

Father Vaughn has been resting at the Glickner the last week and his lecture Sunday night will be given for the benefit of that institution. Father Vaughn had promised himself a 10 days' retirement from the lecture platform, he says, but he declared he was so impressed with the work being done at the Glickner by the Sisters of Charity that he decided to help them in this way.

The lecture Sunday night, which he will give by special request, is the one that he gave in New York, and was so well received when given there at the Waldorf-Astoria. This is the lecture that he gave in Denver recently.

There perhaps is not another churchman in the world today better known than this famous Englishman. He has been heralded as "a friend of English royalty, a laborer among London's poor—a lion in society and the merciless flayer of the smart set."

Father Vaughn has been in this country since October, and has been listened to by more than a quarter of a million persons since his arrival. Twice a week for six weeks, 7,000 heard him at St. Patrick's cathedral, and it is estimated that nearly as many were turned away.

Father Vaughn leaves here soon for the coast where he has many engagements to speak.

LOCAL BRANCH ACTIVE AS

TAFT CONTINUES HIS APPEAL TO OHIOANS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 14. I am here to ask you to do justice and give a square deal to an administration of the government of the United States by an Ohio man. I do not ask any favors, because I am an Ohio man, but I ask justice. And I do not know any place in which I can make that appeal with more force and more right than in the home of that great Ohio president, who was my friend and my benefactor, William McKinley.

That was the appeal that formed the mainstay of President Taft on the second lap of his campaign for Ohio. He based his appeal for support in the achievements of his administration and the danger he said lay in the renomination and reelection of Colonel Roosevelt.

The president began the day in East Liverpool and made his last speech here tonight. At times he came close to Colonel Roosevelt but they did not meet.

Although Mr. Taft's arguments were not greatly different from previous days, there were many incidents that brought a smile to his face and the faces of others who heard him.

The president himself created amusement for his hearers at Akron when he took up his discussion of the house and made his usual reference to Mr. Roosevelt's relations with them.

"I didn't see Mr. Roosevelt get out his elephant gun and get after any bosses," the president said.

"I May Be Puzzle-Witted."

"I may be puzzle-witted," he said, at Canton. "That is a question that you cannot discuss any more than you can discuss whether you are 'good looking' or not. But whether I am puzzle-witted or not, I know the difference between truth and fiction. I know what a square deal is, and I know that he does not resemble Abraham Lincoln in any respect."

At Massillon he made a speech to several hundred school children.

"When you grow up, will you become good citizens? Will you stand up for the United States and for the Stars and Stripes?" asked the president.

"Yes, sir," the children said in chorus.

"And when you hear anybody abusing it will you think he doesn't know what he is doing? Will you?"

"Yes, sir," the children said again. Once or twice the president took up reciprocity and told the farmers that he was still of the opinion that it would have been a good thing for them and the country.

Spoken of by the president's speech at Massillon, Barborton and Akron, but by the time he reached Kent the sun was out and his talks there and at Ravenna, Girard, Niles and Warren before he arrived in Youngstown, were made without inconvenience. All day the crowds were big enough to please the president and the demonstrations and applause frequent.

applied to the living issues of today, as making the case not only of sound Republicanism, but of good citizenship.

"I believe that the constitution was conceived by the representatives of the people and adopted by the people, so that the people themselves, without compulsion, could as well forth in the preamble of the constitution, better obtain justice for themselves and better promote the general welfare. Our opponents believe that the constitution is something that does not spring from the common people, the plain people; that, on the contrary, it has been imposed upon them, and that they are to be compelled to submit to it even against their will."

Real Defenders and Upholders.

"Who endeavor to make the constitution an instrument through which the people can themselves obtain justice and work out their own salvation, are its real defenders, its real upholders. Our opponents are the enemies of the constitution, in spite of all their lip loyalty to it, when they invert its true meaning by the refinements of attorney logic."

"Do you think that I am preaching revolutionary doctrine? Well, I am only preaching the doctrine that Abraham Lincoln preached and which every one recognizes now as sane and conservative. I stand for referendum and Mr. Taft is against it."

"I ask that referendum on a certain type of state judicial decisions. Mr. Taft says he will protect the courts from the EL PASO, Tex., May 14.—Col. E. Z. Steever of the Fourth cavalry, and in command of Fort Bliss, will succeed the late Gen. Joseph W. Duncan as commander of the department at Texas at San Antonio, he admitted tonight.

Owing to General Duncan's illness, Colonel Steever virtually has been in charge since last Saturday. It is not known whether the change is permanent or not.

Colonel Steever is from Pennsylvania, has seen active service for 43 years in the army, distinguished himself in the Philippines where he served as governor of the island of Sulu and is recognized as one of the most capable men in the army.

COURT DENOUNCES OWNERS WHO FEED GARBAGE TO HOGS

DENVER, May 14.—The owners of Denver's garbage-fed hog ranches are liable to criminal prosecution, holds the court of appeals. The ranches may be prosecuted under an act passed in 1907, which forbids the feeding of garbage to hogs, under an opinion of this court, handed down yesterday. The opinion was written by Presiding Judge Tully Scott. Conditions on these ranches, the owners of which have been protected by the Denver city administration for years, are detailed, and the regular moves the court to remark.

"The testimony discloses a condition in this regard so repulsive and so inimical to the public health as to prompt the inquiry, as to how in a civilized community, such things are permitted to exist, and why the offenders are not restrained and criminally prosecuted."

It would seem to be a fruitful field for health boards and prosecuting officers.

This denunciation of the nefarious garbage-fed hog business is continued in an opinion, affirming the issuance of an injunction against the establishment of a new hog ranch.

John G. Seale, owner of one farm, who he raised hogs for the Denver market fed on its own refuse, and he found the business so profitable, that he put $20,000 into another ranch, northeast of Denver, Martin E. Broome, owner of an adjacent farm, brought an action seeking to enjoin Seale, Judge Harry Gamble, sitting in the Adams county court, granted the injunction and after a hearing on the merits of the case, made the order permanent. Seale appealed to the higher court.

Statements Made by H. O. Havemeyer in 1899 Introduced in Suit to Dissolve Sugar Refining Company

NEW YORK, May 14.—The government today began its work of taking testimony in its suit for dissolution of the American Sugar Refining company by introducing statements of the former head of the company, Henry O. Havemeyer, five years dead.

Their admission brought about a clash between counsel, who differed the testimony was privileged, from material, incompetent or irrelevant. United States District Attorney Wise insisted that the testimony was material, as supporting the government's contention that the company had been produced without profit until it was dismantled and then reorganized by selling at exorbitant prices.

The testimony, which was given by Mr. Havemeyer before the Congressional industrial committee on June 1, 1899, was admitted to the records subject to the objections raised by the defendant's counsel.

According to the printed report of the industrial committee, Mr. Havemeyer admitted his company enjoyed "certain advantages" and said "it can

IN OHIO

THEY are having great times in Ohio these days. The President hails from that state, so of course he regards it as his own bailiwick. But the tempestuous Mr. Roosevelt is contesting his supremacy and has invaded Ohio to plead his own case with the voters. In the realm of practical politics it is a rule that aspirants to honors must have the support of their own people. The candidate for election to a city council must show that he is backed by the people of his ward; the aspirant to a state office must go into the state convention with the support of his own county. And in like fashion a man who aims at the presidential nomination is badly handicapped unless he controls the delegation to the National Convention from his own state. At least it has been so until this year, when the New York delegation is to be sent to Chicago uninstructed. But Roosevelt is habitually an upsetter of traditions and a law unto himself; and when the time comes for Mr. Barnes' delegation to register its vote, it will not improbably be cast for T. R.

Not so with our honored President. Nobody knows how he stands in his own Buckeye State. The division in New York, culminating after the state convention in the election of an uninstructed delegation, was purely a matter of practical politics. But in Ohio there is a deep-seated popular movement against Taft which may result in anything or everything. He may win a few of the delegates to the National Convention, or he may win none of them; it is almost beyond the range of possibility that he will win all of them.

Yesterday the President opened his campaign in his own state and among his own people. He began at East Liverpool, a pottery town, and in characteristic fashion he displayed his propensity for blundering. He defended the Payne-Aldrich tariff because of its protection of the pottery industry. Suppose the employees of the East Liverpool potteries are protected by the tariff from the competition of the "pauper labor" of European potteries—what advantage do they gain in the long run if the same tariff bill forces an extortionate increase in the cost of everything which they eat, and wear and use?

MR. TAFT'S WATERLOO AT HAND.

Colonel Roosevelt's Ohio campaign is coincident with that of his successor, but the analogy ends here. Roosevelt is appealing to the people on present-day issues, and Mr. Taft is appealing to them on a wornout and discredited contention, dating from the time of Thomas Jefferson, that somehow, for some unknown and undiscoverable reason, it may be a dangerous thing to elect a man to a third term in the presidency. Roosevelt cites Taft's glaring failures, his conspicuous incapacity, his proven inability to measure up to his opportunities, his admitted failure to make good his promises of four years ago. And in contrast he invites public inspection of his own excellent record of seven years in the White House.

Mr. Taft is backed by the tremendous power of the Federal machine. He is President of the United States (thanks to the former friendship of his present opponent) and as such he can, by saying the word, bring to his support tremendously powerful influences. His rival can depend only on popular faith. Roosevelt's chances in Ohio, as elsewhere, depend entirely on his ability to implant a firm conviction as to his worth in the minds of the voters themselves. He lacks the advantage of patronage, the power of a machine. He enters a contest which must be fought out at a tremendous disadvantage to himself, but under terms which seriously handicap him.

Enough time remains for both candidates to stomp the state thoroughly. Each will plead his case, and the voters of Ohio will have every opportunity to reach conclusions based on a full understanding of conditions. Anything less than a sweeping victory will be for Taft a defeat. If he does not win the Ohio delegation in 1912 he is beaten. If Roosevelt gets a considerable part, or all, of that delegation Taft will be a discredited candidate in Chicago next June. And there is every reason for believing that Roosevelt will win better than half of the Ohio delegation.

THE WEATHER

PEOPLE who have lived in Colorado long enough for their enthusiasm to be tempered with discretion never enter the realm of weather prophecy. Neither do they permit themselves to express surprise, pleasure or regret over any turn which the weather may take. They view the whole subject from a fatalistic standpoint, accepting whatever comes as inevitable and indulging in no vain regrets or futile rejoicings. If Providence visits us with snow in August, or with a broiling sun in January, it is all the same to the seasoned resident. He has learned to expect the unexpected at the most unexpected time. He has an abundant supply of coal in his basement to keep his furnace going in midsummer, and his ice cream freezer and electric fan are ready for instant use during the Christmas holidays, if Fate so ordains.

So it probably happened that very few people who class themselves in the pioneer division were more than mildly surprised when the weather man sent us a snowstorm of twenty-four hours uninterrupted duration this week. It was unreasonable; therefore they expected it. They fired up their furnaces and shoveled snow with the same spirit of patient resignation which ordinarily they would display in December. It was merely part of the yearly routine. Of course it never happened before that a snowstorm of any such proportions came in the middle of May, and our friend, "Oldest Inhabitant," is busy just now figuring out whether it was in 1836 or 1842 that something faintly resembling it happened, but just the same the average normal citizen accepts it as a part of the ordinary routine.

The man who keeps tabs on such things at Lake Moraine reports that more than three feet of snow fell on his roof—so we should all be thankful that the summer water supply has been augmented to this extent. The dry farmers in Eastern El Paso County and the semi-arid region contiguous thereto are feeling good because of the added moisture which will enhance their chances of a good crop next fall—and of course all of us who live here in town should feel grateful for anything that increases the prosperity of the farmers.

But what we are particularly interested in is, how much will the snowstorm, and its resultant sea of mud, delay the work of paving the streets? The contractors have been hustling vigorously for more than a month and everybody is praying for the early completion of the job. The Powers That Be have promised that the whole business will be finished before the advent of the tourists in early July, but most people who have sized up the situation on the street are a bit dubious. Therefore let us hope and pray that nothing whatever will happen to interrupt the work further. We need moisture urgently, but we need paved streets, and above all passable streets, even more.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

THE PROCEDURE BILL.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The Direct Legislation league has arranged a campaign for securing signatures to the 10 bills and amendments it has undertaken to initiate. Signatures of about 15,000 voters are necessary to initiate these measures, of which Colorado Springs should contribute 1,500. The following deals with the procedure bill:

At the general state election two years ago the people by a vote of three to one, indicated their purpose hereafter to exercise the powers of self-legislation. The law enacted at that time provided that whenever 8 per cent of more of the qualified electors wished, they could by petition have any measure they desired to formulated and submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election.

The adoption of this law by such a large majority clearly showed that the voters of Colorado were awake to the necessity of taking a direct part in the making of the laws as a corrective to the frequent inaction on the part of the legislature when the desires of the people have been so plain that failure to heed them has branded the representatives of the people as no longer such, save in name.

The method now required for the publication of measures to be submitted under the initiative and referendum in the same way as that for proposed constitutional amendments, namely, publication in a newspaper in each county for three weeks prior to the election at which such measures are to be voted on.

does not win the Ohio delegation in 1912 he is beaten. If Roosevelt gets a considerable part, or all, of that delegation Taft will be a discredited candidate in Chicago next June. And there is every reason for believing that Roosevelt will win better than half of the Ohio delegation.

THE VOICE OF DISCONTENT.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Towards the end of the eighteenth century France was boiling and seething with the revolution of 1789-1793. The seer, his wife and offspring, were considered below the plane of animals. The lower stratum of French society was subject to the whims of the then decaying ruling aristocracy.

Prompted by such injustice to the masses, Rousseau wrote his famous "Social Contract," setting forth the new time-worn principles of "equality, liberty and fraternity." Rousseau's book was dissected by nearly all that were able to read. Even the French nobility that was loathing around the

Your Knitting

By WALT MASON.

Tending to your knitting—that's the game that wins. Hustling forth and hitting up your task with grins, being brave and cheerful, shunning futile boasts, being slow and careful, shunning over-ghosts. Tending to your knitting—that's the only plan; for the hours are flitting swiftly as they can; soon the shades will gather, soon the night will come, then methinks you'll rather wish you'd hustled some! Tending to your knitting, in the good old way, while the leaders, sitting, waste the golden day. While they heap derision on this worldly stage, you will make provision for your wintry age. Tending to your knitting—that's the proper game, though the world, unwitting, gives no wealth or fame; though a scanty measure of reward is yours, still the sweetest pleasure honest work assures. Tending to your knitting makes your soul rejoice. Better far than spitting venom with your voice. Better far than growling curses on this land, better far than howling where the idlers stand!

Have You Labeled Yourself?

By RUTH CAMERON.

There was once a young man who had a habit of making wild and exaggerated statements about many things. People who knew this man took stock of this habit of his and were accustomed to allow for it in listening to him.

Now, one day, this young man made an exact and true statement about a certain matter in which he was deeply interested. "Oh, yes," said his friends in answer, "that sounds well, but you know you are inclined to exaggerate and I'm afraid you are making these figures too big."

"But I'm not," protested the young man indignantly. "I know what I'm talking about, and you'd better believe me."

His friends smiled indulgently and went their way, still thinking they had been listening to one of his usual wild and exaggerated statements. Now, later developments proved that the young man was quite right and absolutely accurate, and he went around proud and contented with himself.

"Yes," they admitted, "you were right for once, but we are so well used to allowing for your exaggerations that you must not blame us for doing it this time."

In which they were quite right.

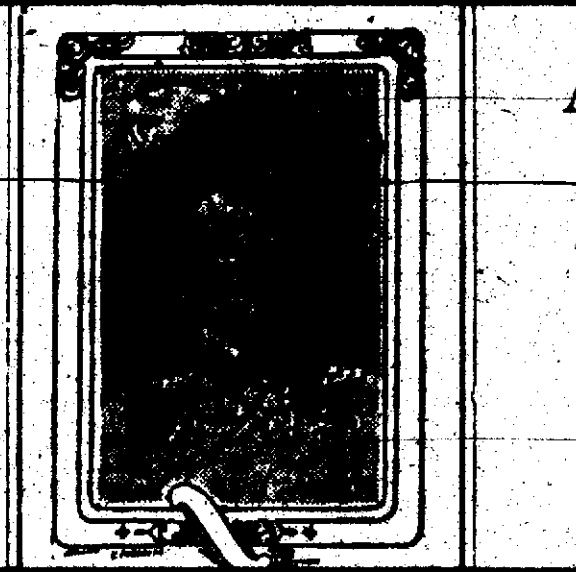

Now, the moral of this little tale is not—don't exaggerate. It's just this—if you have taught your friends to expect a certain quality in you, don't complain when they judge all your acts in the light of that quality. They are simply doing the logical thing.

The man who is abnormally cautious is indignant when some act of his, which really has nothing to do with his sense of caution, is attributed to that. He has no right to be indignant. His friends were simply applying the rule which he himself taught them.

The woman who is hyper-critical feels aggrieved because some speech of hers, which she intended as kindly as possible, is received as if it were critically meant. She has no right to be aggrieved. Her friends are only seeing in her what she has taught them to look for.

When the boy of Aesop fame called for help at the approach of real danger, no one would believe him in earnest, because he had cried "wolf, wolf," in fun so many times that they thought he must be always mocking them.

In the same way, our daily habits teach people to expect certain things from us, and we have no right to complain when they judge some speech or act of ours in the light of this expectation, even if the judgment does happen to be incorrect.

FIRST AID TO INJURED HEARTS

By Laura Jean Libbey

ARE LOVE LETTERS PRECIOUS?

(Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.)

Was there ever a girl who sat down to write a letter to her loved one who did not wonder if the letter would be as precious to him as his letters are to her?

Men are not given to writing affectionate letters unless they are much in love. Girls are apt to take such letters at their face value and reply to them with words equally as tender, from the depths of their unsophisticated hearts. A girl always believes that a man really means every word that he writes.

Men realized how the majority of young girls treasured their tenderly written words and how the lines were imbued with a sentiment scarcely intended, he would think twice ere he penned the words. "You are the only girl in the world for me! I am continually thinking of you." The girl is just sure to answer, "I am thinking of you, Charlie, and wishing that you were here again."

The absent man, if he cares for the girl, slips the letter into his breast pocket. And though he may be of unromantic temperament he finds himself slipping that page from the envelope and reading it a dozen times a day.

If many a girl could but know the fate of her love letters, she would be chary of writing them. Only the girl who is engaged to wed a man should feel free to put her loving heart thoughts on paper, being thus assured that the loved one will hold them as precious.

A girl's letters can be bright, breezy, enjoyable, without drifting into sentimentality. Because an unbrothered man writes fervid, tender letters, that cannot be held as proof strong as holy writ that he actually experiences the tender sentiment—love. Girls should realize this.

ANSWERS

SHE HAS NINE CHILDREN.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a married woman of 35. I have nine children. There is a young school teacher coming here at our house who seems to be gaining the affection of my husband. Every evening at supper time, whether I have much to say or not, he asks her to stay, and it greatly annoys me. It worries and harasses me greatly when I see him bend over her with love in his eyes. When I speak to him about it, he becomes angry and says, 'Isk, she's only a kid.' Your advice will be greatly appreciated. A FORLORN WIFE."

Don't you think that you exaggerate things? Better tell your husband frankly that you don't intend to go to the inconvenience of getting dinners for the girl when she comes there. Tell him that you have quite enough work to take care of in your regular duties without putting on extra work.

THEY QUARRELED.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 27. Have been keeping company with a young fellow three years by junior. A week ago Sunday night we had a little difference and she suggested that we see each other no more. I did not think she was sincere when she said it, and told her that I felt the same way in the matter. I thought perhaps she would call me up and ask me to call, but she did not. I met her one morning and she treated me very coolly. I wrote her a letter and told her that if she could not give me her love, she should at least show me a little respect. I feel that she cares a great deal for me, but she is just waiting for me to break the ice. She has not answered my letter. We are both of an independent disposition. Shall I call her up, or do you think if she loves me she will call me?"

A BROKEN HEARTED MAN.

"I think I would call her up if I were you. There is no sense at all in indulging in foolish pride. It causes mere heartaches than anything. Don't be a victim. Call the girl up if you care for her."

HE WANTS TO CALL.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 28 and good looking. My husband is 40 and handsome. He used to love me, but lately he has grown so cold. He is never satisfied with his meals and goes out in the evening. I do not know where or with whom, and leaves me alone. Now, there is a young man next door who would like very much to come over and keep me from being lonesome, and I would like to have him come. Kindly advise me what to do. ROSEHED."

Under no circumstances allow the fellow to call on you. You will only be subjecting yourself to unkind remarks.

INVITATION TO CALL.

"Dear Miss Libbey: When two people have met or are acquainted for some time isn't it correct for the girl to ask the fellow to call?"

It is the girl's privilege to ask the man to call on her.

In New York city 151,973 children between 14 and 18 years of age are now at work, 65,626 boys and 86,347 girls.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 15, 1882.

Quite a large number of Colorado Springs people flocked to the D. & R. G. station to see the first broad-gauge train pass through the city. The D. & R. G. had heretofore been narrow gauge, but a third rail had just been laid between Denver and Pueblo, so that broad-gauge trains could run over the track.

Dacon & Carr had assumed control of the Colorado Springs transfer business and were running the busses and express wagons to hotels and private houses. The free transportation of passengers between the stations and hotels had ceased.

Mrs. William Farnsworth, who lived at the corner of Pikes Peak avenue and Weber street, was awakened about 3 o'clock in the morning by an unusual noise in the house. She called for a dog which was in the house, and as she did so, a dark lantern was

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 15, 1892.

A rich strike on the Lottie Gibson mine at Cripple Creek was reported. This mine is now part of the Stratton estate holdings.

Rev. C. W. Heister arrived in the city to take charge of the English Lutheran church.

J. C. Barney had gotten out an attractive book containing views and advertisements of Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region.

There was a considerable flurry in the stock of the Pharmacist mine at Cripple Creek, which was then selling at about 16 cents.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS

XV—THE PEOPLE OF NICARAGUA

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

CORINTO, Nicaragua, April 22.—The people of Nicaragua, victims of so many generations of misrule with 17 years of Zelayaism as its climax, have reached that sad state where the traveler wonders whether they or their beasts of burden have the better lot in life. Where there is a submerged tenth in America, in Nicaragua it is a submerged nine-tenths.

The people have no education. Whatever of schools there are have been created in order that the government might use a lot of high-sounding language about education in the republic. "Viva Libertad!"—long live liberty—is a phrase to conjure with in Nicaragua. Let a leader about it and thousands gather beneath his banner. And yet the masses know about as little of true liberty as those of Persia. A fair election in Nicaragua has never been known, and until someone from the outside guarantees it, or until the nature of the Nicaraguan politician changes, none ever will be known. Nothing in the way of sanitation, education, or governmental assistance has ever come to them. They have a hundred times been drafted into the armies of the rival revolutionary parties, taken away from their homes and their work, and the effect of all this may be shown by the one significant fact that the population of Nicaragua has decreased more than one-half in 50 years!

Peon Must Take Wage Offered.

Contrast with the lot of the unfortunate masses, the condition of the ruling classes. They are almost without exception well-to-do; very often they are rich. The poor peon must work a whole day for them for less than 25 cents. If he is not willing to take the wage the alternative is starvation. And as hundreds of thousands are always hungry, no strike can ever secure better wages.

There has been one exception to this prosperity of the ruling classes. During the endless procession of revolutions that have come and gone, in Nicaragua recruiting officers have visited every coffee stock, sugar plantation and mining village in the republic in search of men for the army. It was either a case of take it or leave it, or go to the army. Under these conditions the coffee and sugar growers and the mining men would have paid high prices for labor, but it was not to be had, with the result that the coffee withered on the trees, the sugar cane remained uncut, the mining continued in its place, and industry in general was ruined. It is true that all this for the time being caused losses to the property owning ruling class, but future concessions always made up for it.

Perhaps the saddest fact about the whole situation of the masses in Nicaragua is the smiling and cheerful resignation with which they have borne their pitiable lot. Whether it has come from never having known anything better, or from a sort of stoic philosophy, it is hard to divine, but their good nature under their long suffering is a revelation in patience. They are a deeply religious people, and yet they seem to violate every principle of morality with which the word "religion" is associated in the American mind. Except in the small percentage of high caste families marriage is all but a forgotten rite. The church and the state each declare that marriage ceremonies celebrated by the other are not good, and the masses believe them both. Zelaya once boasted that 68 per cent of the children of Nicaragua were illegitimate.

Gambling Spirit Reigns.

The people have the gambling spirit highly developed. They buy lottery tickets every week if they can get a centavo; they have cock-fights just as often as the supply of cocks will permit; they play keno at all hours of the day and night—and Nicaragua is a wide-open place from Corinto and San Juan del Sur to Bluefields and Greytown.

The children of Nicaragua are like Topsy indeed. There is no pretense of rearing them—they run as wild as pigs and chickens—and live with such indifference to dirt that one begins to believe that man may become immune to all germs just as he does to some diseases. They grow up in ignorance, live wholly hand-to-mouth existence from the cradle to the grave, and ultimately are carried to their graves in rented coffins, from which their bodies, wound in nothing but winding sheets, are tumbled into the ground.

Although, as stated above, in half a century the population of Nicaragua has been cut in twain, this cannot be attributed to race suicide. It is not considered wrong for a man to maintain a half dozen domestic establishments. He is criticised only if he attempts to maintain more homes than he can provide for. Some time since the son of one of the present candidates for president was asked how many brothers and sisters he had. He replied that he did not know, explaining: "You see we have so many mammas." Plenty of children are born, but disease and war cut their lives short.

Intensely Patriotic.

Notwithstanding the fact that the masses in Nicaragua have never received anything from the government but the privilege of paying for its maintenance and fighting for it or against it, they still are intensely patriotic and equally bitter against foreigners. They have heard the ruling element in Nicaragua talk so much about the United States and its people that they are not much in love with us. They cannot understand how any government should sympathize with them and they judge us as individuals by what they see of us in Nicaragua. And on the whole they are justified in the latter conclusion. There is a certain class of adventurers who leave the United States for their country's good, and they are always in evidence in countries like this. They like war and they try to bring it about. They are soldiers of fortune, who would not hesitate to cause rivers of blood to flow in order to get a concession. Just one incident illustrates the source of the popular anti-American feeling. The usual crowd of people were out for their evening of sitting on the unpaved plank freight pier—the only diversion for the people of the capital city—when an American adventurer, drunk as a bull, took a pistol from his pocket and began to beat a native over the head because the latter failed to step out of his way. A crowd of native men and women were discussing the matter a moment later, and one of the men remarked: "That is the way the Americans feel toward us."

Some of Customs Payoffs.

There are some peculiar customs in official circles in Nicaragua. The legislative palace, which also houses all the ministries, abuts on one of the main streets. (Continued on Page Eight.)

Heinz Ill; Will Not Be in Colo. Springs Today

H. J. Heinz, well known throughout the country as the originator of "the 57 varieties," and who was to deliver an address before the business men at a luncheon at the Alamo hotel this noon, yesterday canceled his engagement and will not come here. F. E. Kohler, who had charge of the arrangements, received a telephone communication from Mr. Heinz' secretary, yesterday, saying Mr. Heinz is ill and cannot make the trip.

DIVIDEND TO BE FIRST OF REGULAR PAYMENTS

Accompanying the quarterly report of the Gold Dollar Consolidated Mining company, President H. L. Shenfield announces that a dividend of one-half cent a share will be paid June 1 to stockholders of record May 21. It amounts to $12,500, and will be the first of a series of regular quarterly dividends, if the hopes of the directors are realized. The annual meeting of the stockholders will be held at Cheyenne, June 12.

The net cash paid into the treasury during the last quarter was $33,841.91, including both royalties and company shipments. The cash balance on hand May 1 was $29,054.01. There are 20 sets of losses regularly working on the property, with about one-half this number doing development and the other half shipping ore.

WILL START WORK SOON DENVER-SPRINGS HIGHWAY

A crew of men will be put to work on the Colorado Springs-Denver road as soon as weather conditions warrant, according to County Commissioner H. H. Johnson. Mr. Hutchinson will go over the road today on an inspection trip to learn if the snow has done any damage. Insufficient drainage was put in along a strip of road repaired last autumn, he says, and it may be that the recent storms have injured this part of the highway.

When the Denver road is in shape, work will be started to put the Canon City road in the best of shape for the summer travel. Ditches will be cleaned, holes filled and the road smoothed.

ADVERTISING MEN HERE

About 200 members of the Associated Advertising club, under the supervision of W. J. Towne, advertising manager of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, arrived in Colorado Springs early this (Wednesday) morning, on a special train over the D. & R. G. President W. C. Dotterer of the Crystal Park company had made arrangements to take the party up to Crystal park, but he inspected the road yesterday and decided that it would be impossible for the crowd to take the trip. Other entertainment will be provided for the ad. men while they are here.

The party will leave at 11:30 o'clock this morning for Denver, whence it will go to Dallas, Tex., to attend the annual meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

FRESHMEN UPSET AT TRADITION AND HOLD UNINTERRUPTED DINNER

College traditions and the authority of seniors and sophomores were set at defiance last night at Colorado college, when 50 men of the freshman class held a banquet at the Alta Vista hotel. It is against all rules laid down by the upper classes for the first-year men to arrange such a gathering, and had it become known, the affair would have been broken up. The freshmen, for the first time in the history of the college, gave a banquet without interruption. The 50 men had a very good time.

The dinner was served in the back dining room of the hotel with drawn curtains, and no noise was allowed. Manager Bussey, who placed a guard of bellboys at the outer door, said that "he had decided to let them try it, but didn't know what might happen." The committee on arrangements was George Keener, Judson Williams and William Argo. Charles Emery was toastmaster, and the speakers were: De Witt Robinson, Harry Nourse, Edwin Chrysler, Chauncey Border, Judson Williams, Everett Munroe and Prof. Roger H. Motten.

NYE SELLS FRANCHISE TO THE TUTT STATE

S. N. Nye, manager of the Opera house, has sold the Colorado Springs franchise in the National Theater Owners association to the Colorado Springs Opera House company, which is controlled by the estate of the late Charles L. Tutt. Although the consideration was not made public, it is understood to be in excess of $6,000. The franchises in the association in this state are controlled by Peter McCourt of Denver, who is a close friend of Mr. Nye and has been associated with him in the theatrical business in Colorado for many years. Mr. Nye will continue as manager of the Opera house here and will book the same class of attractions that have always been shown.

James F. Burns and Mr. Nye started negotiations for the franchise several weeks ago, but they could not agree and the matter was dropped. The Colorado Springs Opera House company had contemplated purchasing the franchise about the time Mr. Burns and Mr. Nye were in conference but upon learning this held off until some definite settlement had been reached. When the company found that the two had dropped negotiations, it approached Mr. Nye with an offer for the franchise, and after several days an agreement was reached and the franchise transferred.

Mr. Nye has been in the theatrical business in Colorado Springs for more than 20 years, and it was he who built up the present theatrical circuit, which is now controlled by Mr. McCourt, who controls the circuit in the state.

Was Associated With Tabor

"I was associated with Senator Tabor in Leadville in 1878," said Mr. Nye last night, "and that is now I happened to get into the theatrical business. Senator Tabor wanted to do something for Leadville, so he built a house there at about the time the local house was erected. After these two theaters were built I conceived the idea of establishing a theatrical circuit in Colorado, and one by one I got the various towns to build theaters until I had what was known later as the Silver circuit."

"Men in other states began to organize similar circuits, and soon the entire west was controlled in a theatrical way by the managers of these circuits. Peter McCourt came west about this time and eventually took charge of the Silver circuit."

"Later on the National Theater Owners association was organized, and the managers of the various circuits went into it, those holding franchises in the various towns and circuits being included. The association was organized to protect the house and the attractions that came to it, not to create a monopoly in the business. This was the way in which I got control of the situation in Colorado Springs, and this was the way Peter McCourt got control in Denver."

"Of course, I could transfer this franchise at any time, but so long as I held it I was protected. I was not trying to buck anyone; else here who wanted to manage a theater—I was simply protecting my house and my attractions. I would have sold to Mr. Burns but he would not consider my price."

MIDLAND MAKES CHANGES

J. A. Webb, for the last few years Colorado Midland station agent and yardmaster at Colorado City, has been appointed as superintendent at L. Phelps to the same position at Woodland Park, the appointment to go into effect this morning.

Frank Harris, formerly chief clerk to Superintendent Phelps, will fill the position left vacant by Mr. Webb, and Geo. A. Dorrance, formerly chief clerk to Assistant Superintendent J. W. Spahr, will succeed Mr. Harris. Mr. Harris, before coming to Colorado City some time ago, was assistant superintendent of the Burlington with headquarters at Denver. M. F. Burrell has been appointed chief clerk to the assistant superintendent.

Mr. Phelps, who was only recently appointed superintendent of the Colorado Midland, is completely reorganizing the executive force.

FORMER COLLEGE STUDENT HEADS WELLESLEY CLASS

Miss Mary Elizabeth Colt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Colt, of Las Animas, and a niece of Mrs. H. F. Avery of this city, was recently chosen president of her class, '12, at Wellesley college. According to custom at that college, Miss Colt also will be president of the alumnae of her class and preside at future reunions. She is well known in Colorado Springs, where for two years she attended Colorado college. This is the second time she has had the honor of heading her class, she being president during her freshman year.

Check Wrongfully Held Is Raised And Cashed, He Claims

Simon and Samuel Krantz of Colorado City are charged by David Clark with having defrauded him out of $175 by means of a check wrongfully obtained, and which he says they raised to that amount and cashed after forging the indorsement of a certain "Jack Gordon." The complaint in the case was filed in the district court yesterday.

Clark says that he went to the Krantz store February 17, and requested Simon Krantz to cash a check. Krantz consented, according to Clark, and told his younger brother, Samuel Krantz, to make out a check for $100 on the Capitol National bank of Denver. Clark signed this check, he says. The elder Krantz then asked him how much money he wished. Upon his reply that he would like to get $125, he says that Simon Krantz pretended to tear up the first check and told his brother to make out another for the larger sum.

The check he supposed was destroyed was in reality kept, raised to $175, and cashed at the First National bank of Colorado City by Samuel Krantz, February 19, he alleges. He says he did not know of the fraud until March 1, when he discovered the spurious check among the canceled checks returned from the Denver bank.

The Krantz refused to answer his letters concerning the check, he says, and refused to discuss the matter with him when he made a trip to Colorado City to see them. They also deny any knowledge of "Jack Gordon." Clark declares. He states that it is his belief that there is no such person, and that the name was an invention of the Krantz.

In the complaint Clark asks for the $175, he says the Krantz collected on the check, $75 attorney fees, $10.50 railroad fare and $90.50 for lost time.

The Krantz conduct a clothing store in Colorado City, and have always borne an excellent reputation.

REAL ESTATE MEN AID STATE ASSN. IN FIGHT

The real estate exchange, at its regular monthly luncheon at the Acacia hotel yesterday noon, made an appropriation to help the Colorado Realty Dealers association to initiate the bill to advance the state appropriation for the bureau of immigration from the fourth to the first class. The local members of the state association also have pledged themselves to help in the work of securing names to the petition.

At present the state gives about $8,000 for salaries and puts this appropriation in the first class. It also appropriates a certain amount for the work of the immigration bureau, but as this is in the fourth class, it is seldom available. The state association wants the salary appropriation cut down and a part of it given to the bureau of immigration, since its officers are paid from the salary appropriation, but they have no funds with which to work.

At the meeting yesterday it was also decided to discontinue the regular monthly meetings during the summer months. The next regular meeting will be held in September.

POSTMASTERS MEET

John F. Morgan of Colorado City, president of the Colorado Association of Postmasters, and Alex J. Strachan of this city made addresses before the annual meeting of the postmasters which opened at the Albany hotel in Denver yesterday. Mr. Morgan talked on "City Delivery for All Offices of the Second Class" and Mr. Strachan on "Railway Postal Clerks."

In practically every office in the state a big increase in receipts was noted last year, and every postmaster says he is going to break the record this year.

The association held its annual banquet at the Albany last night, and the business session will be continued today, closing tonight.

SHRINERS IN SPRINGS

The first of the special trains of Shriner, en route to their homes in the east from the imperial council of the order in Los Angeles, last week, arrived in Colorado Springs late yesterday afternoon. It was Medinah temple special, from Chicago, and carried more than 100 passengers. It will leave over the Denver & Rio Grande this morning at 9 o'clock, for Denver, whence it will go through to Chicago.

Several hundred Shriner are expected to visit the Pikes Peak region, spending from one to five days here. While only a few special trains are scheduled to stop in this city, many small parties will come here for a few days' sight-seeing.

DIVORCE SUIT CONTINUED

The divorce suit brought by Elise Vaseen against Gustave Vaseen, in the county court, yesterday was continued until Friday. Testimony and arguments were heard by Judge Little yesterday, and Vaseen was ordered to pay his wife $25 in attorney's fees.

Both parties to the suit are seeking the custody of their 7-year-old child, Jeanne. The father charges that Mrs. Vaseen ran away from their home in Pennsylvania in company with another man, while she alleges that his cruel treatment was the cause of her leaving him. Vaseen's suit for the custody of the child will be heard in conjunction with the divorce action.

The Vaseens are Belgians, and were married in that country in 1906. The Belgian consul at Denver acted as interpreter at the trial. Vaseen's parents are reputed to be wealthy.

A charter has been granted by the American Federation of Labor to the Scotch-Irish Protective union of Fresno, Cal.

Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS WILL BE REPEATED IN CITY

The favor with which the Y. M. C. A. circus was received on its last appearance in Colorado Springs has caused the management to postpone the breaking of winter quarters for a tour of Kansas, until a second performance can be given in this city. The animals have suffered but little during the recent snowstorm, and the acrobats are as limber as before.

Accordingly, Friday and Saturday, May 24 and 25, have been set for the reappearance of the circus at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. These dates may be changed, though the performances will certainly be given. New features will be provided, intended to interest those who want to see the circus again.

Prof. Hart to Address College Vespers Sunday

The vesper services at Colorado college next Sunday afternoon will be addressed by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard, the exchange professor at the college. His subject has not been announced.

The lectures on American history by Professor Hart will continue in Palmer hall, this morning at 8:15 o'clock, tomorrow at 9:40 o'clock and Friday at 10:35. The lectures Tuesday and Thursday evenings will be given at 8:15 in Perkins hall.

IN OHIO

THEY are having great times in Ohio these days. The President hails from that state, so of course he regards it as his own halfback. But the tempestuous Mr. Roosevelt is contesting his supremacy and has invaded Ohio to plead his own case with the voters. In the realm of practical politics it is a rule that aspirants to honors must have the support of their own people. The candidate for election to a city council must show that he is backed by the people of his ward, the aspirant to a state office must go into the state convention with the support of his own county. And in like fashion a man who aims at the presidential nomination is badly handicapped unless he controls the delegation to the National Convention from his own state. At least it has been so until this year, when the New York delegation is to be sent to Chicago uninstructed. But Roosevelt is habitually an upsetter of traditions and a law unto himself, and when the time comes for Mr. Barnes' delegation to register its vote, it will not improbably be cast for T. R.

Not so with our honored President. Nobody knows how he stands in his own Buckeye State. The division in New York, culminating after the state convention in the election of an uninstructed delegation, was purely a matter of practical politics. But in Ohio there is a deep-seated popular movement against Taft which may result in anything or everything. He may win a few of the delegates to the National Convention, or he may win none of them, it is almost beyond the range of possibility that he will win all of them.

Yesterday the President opened his campaign in his own state and among his own people. He began at East Liverpool, a pottery town, and in characteristic fashion he displayed his propensity for blundering. He defended the Payne-Aldrich tariff because of its protection of the pottery industry. Suppose the employees of the East Liverpool pottery are protected by the tariff from the competition of the "pauper labor" of European potteries—what advantage do they gain in the long run if the same tariff bill forces an extortionate increase in the cost of everything which they eat, and wear and use?

MR. TAFT'S OHIO CAMPAIGN IS CONSIDERED WITH THAT OF HIS SUCCESSOR, BUT THE ANALOGY ENDS HERE. Roosevelt is appealing to the people on present-day issues, and Mr. Taft is appealing to them on a worn-out and discredited contention, dating from the time of Thomas Jefferson, that somehow, for some unknown and undiscoverable reason, it may be a dangerous thing to elect a man to a third term in the presidency. Roosevelt cites Taft's glowing future, his own previous incapacity, his proven inability to measure up to his opportunities, his admitted failure to make good his promises of four years ago. And in contrast he invites public inspection of his own excellent record of seven years in the White House.

Mr. Taft is backed by the tremendous power of the Federal machine. He is President of the United States (thanks to the former friendship of his present opponent) and as such he can, by saying the word, bring to his support tremendously powerful influences. His rival can depend only on popular faith. Roosevelt's chances in Ohio, as elsewhere, depend entirely on his ability to implant a firm conviction as to his worth in the minds of the voters themselves. He lacks the advantage of patronage, the power of a machine. He enters a contest which must be fought out at a tremendous disadvantage to himself, but under terms which seriously handicap him.

Enough time remains for both candidates to stomp the state thoroughly. Each will plead his case, and the voters of Ohio will have every opportunity to reach conclusions based on a full understanding of conditions. Anything less than a sweeping victory will be for Taft a defeat. If he does not win the Ohio delegation in toto he is beaten. If Roosevelt gets a considerable part, or all, of that delegation Taft will be a discredited candidate in Chicago next June. And there is every reason for believing that Roosevelt will win better than half of the Ohio delegation.

THE WEATHER

PEOPLE who have lived in Colorado long enough for their enthusiasm to be tempered with discretion never enter the realm of weather prophecy. Neither do they permit themselves to express surprise, pleasure or regret over any turn which the weather may take. They view the whole subject from a realistic standpoint, accepting whatever comes as inevitable and indulging in no vain regrets or futile rejoicings. If Providence visits us with snow in August, or with a broiling sun in January, it is all the same to the seasoned resident. He has learned to expect the unexpected at the most unexpected time. He has an abundant supply of coal in his basement to keep his furnace going in midsummer, and his ice cream freezer and electric fan are ready for instant use during the Christmas holidays, if Fate so ordains.

So it probably happened that very few people who class themselves in the pioneer division were more than mildly surprised when the weather man sent us a snowstorm of twenty-four hours uninterrupted duration this week. It was unseasonable; therefore they expected it. They fired up their furnaces and shoveled snow with the same spirit of patient resignation which ordinarily they would display in December. It was merely part of the yearly routine. Of course it never happened before that a snowstorm of any such proportions came in the middle of May, and our friend, "Oldest Inhabitant," is busy just now figuring out whether it was in 1836 or 1842 that something faintly resembling it happened, but just the same the average normal citizen accepts it as a part of the ordinary routine.

The man who keeps tabs on such things at Lake Moraine reports that more than three feet of snow fell on his roof—so we should all be thankful that the summer water supply has been augmented to this extent. The dry farmers in Eastern El Paso County and the semi-arid region contiguous thereto are feeling good because of the added moisture which will enhance their chances of a good crop next fall—and of course all of us who live here in town should feel grateful for anything that increases the prosperity of the farmers.

But what we are particularly interested in is, how much will the snowstorm, and its resultant sea of mud, delay the work of paving the streets? The contractors have been hustling vigorously for more than a month and everybody is praying for the early completion of the job. The Powers That Be have promised that the whole business will be finished before the advent of the tourists in early July, but most people who have sized up the situation on the street are a bit dubious. Therefore let us hope and pray that nothing whatever will happen to interrupt the work further. We need moisture urgently, but we need paved streets—and above all passable streets, even more.

OPEN-PARLIAMENT

THE PROCEDURE BILL.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The Direct Legislation League has arranged a campaign for securing signatures to the 19 bills and amendments it has undertaken to initiate. Signatures of about 15,000 voters are necessary to initiate those measures of which Colorado Springs should contribute 1500. The following deals with the Procedure Bill.

At the general state election two years ago the people by a vote of three to one, indicated their purpose hereafter to exercise the powers of self-legislation. The law enacted at that time provided that whenever 8 per cent or more of the qualified electors wished they could by petition have any measure they desired to formulate submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election.

The Supreme Court clearly showed that the voters of Colorado were awake to the necessity of taking a direct part in the making of the laws as a corrective to the frequent inaction on the part of the legislature when the desires of the people have been so plain that failure to heed them has branded the representatives of the people as no longer such, save in name.

The method now required for the publication of measures to be submitted under the initiative and referendum is the same as that for proposed constitutional amendments, namely, publication in a newspaper in each county for three weeks prior to the election at which such measures are to be voted on.

The necessity of publishing all such measures at the lowest possible expense, and also of insuring their consideration by every voter, was seriously considered even before the election two years ago, but the enacting clause determined the legal method which it was necessary to follow.

The Direct Legislation League, which was responsible for the campaign in favor of the initiative and referendum, has gone very thoroughly into the matter of effective and economical publicity for direct legislation measures. Taking as its guide the several years' experience in Oregon, where the initiative and referendum have been in successful operation longer than in any other state, the league has drafted a bill which, if adopted this fall, will provide for the publication of all direct legislation measures, which are to be considered by the people, which shall be printed by the state and sent directly to each voter. This method has proven to be very satisfactory in Oregon, except to the newspapers which had previously profited by the large amount of space used in their columns under the system of newspaper publication. Under the simplified method the expense of publication will be reduced at least 50 per cent and thereby make the cost to the state the least possible that is consistent with thorough publicity.

This measure, for which petitions are now being circulated by the Direct Legislation League, is entitled "The Procedure Bill." They should receive the names of every citizen who believes in government by the people.

THE VOICE OF DISCONTENT.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Towards the end of the eighteenth century France was boiling and nearing the revolution of 1789-1793. The arist, his wife and offspring, were considered below the plane of animals. The lower stratum of French society was subject to the whims of the then decaying ruling aristocracy.

Prompted by such injustice to the masses, Rousseau wrote his famous "Social Contract," setting forth the new time-worn principles of "equality, liberty and fraternity." Rousseau's book was dissected by nearly all that were able to read. Even the French nobility that was loafing around the court of King Louis XVI were kept busy (after reading the book) talking about the high ideals and broad morals the arist was to enjoy sometime in the far-away future. And as for the distress of the poor, classes, the damns and stiff courtiers solved the problem by giving parties and gay dances (Continued on Page Eight.)

Your Knitting

By WALT MASON.

Tending to your knitting—that's the game that wins! Hustling forth and hitting up your task with grins, being brave and cheerful, shunning little bonnets, never sour and fearful, trifling over ghosts. Tending to your knitting—that's the only plan; for the hours are fitting swiftly as they can, soon the shades will gather, soon the night will come, then methinks you'll rather wish you'd hustled some! Tending to your knitting, in the good old way while the loaves, sitting, waste the golden day! While they heap derision on this worldly stage, you will make provision for your wily age! Tending to your knitting—that's the proper game, though the world, unliking gives no wealth or fame; though a scanty measure of reward is yours, still the sweetest pleasure honest work assures. Tending to your knitting makes you soul rejoice. Better far than sulking cusses on your voice! Better far than growling cusses on your land better far than howling where the idlers stand!

Have You Labeled Yourself?

By RUTH CAMERON.

There was once a young man who had a habit of making wild and exaggerated statements about many things. People who knew this man took stock of this habit of his and were accustomed to allow for it in listening to him.

Now, one day this young man made an exact and true statement about a certain matter in which he was deeply interested. "Oh, yes," said his friends in answer, "that sounds well, but you know you are inclined to exaggerate and I'm afraid you are making those figures too big."

"But I'm not," protested the young man indignantly. "I know what I'm talking about, and you'd better believe me."

His friends smiled indulgently and went their way still thinking that he had been listening to one of his usual wild and exaggerated statements. Now, later developments proved that the young man was quite right and absolutely accurate, and he went around and pointed this out to his friends.

Yes, they admitted, "you were right" for once, but we are so well used to allowing for your exaggerations that you must not blame us for doing it this time."

In which they were quite right.

Now, the moral of this little tale is not—don't exaggerate. It's just this—if you have taught your friends to expect a certain quality in you, don't complain when they judge all your acts in the light of that quality. They are simply doing the logical thing.

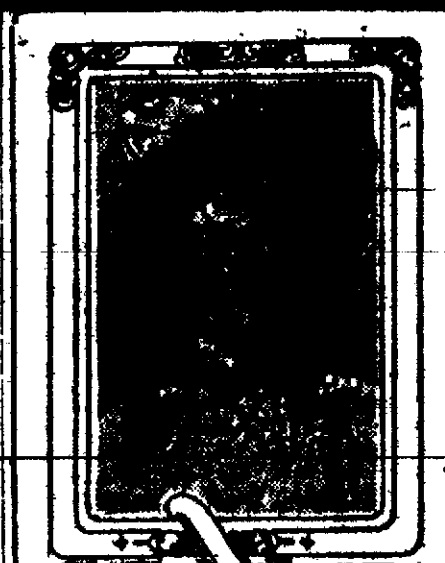

The man who is abnormally cautious is indignant when some act of his which really has nothing to do with his sense of caution, is attributed to that. He has no right to be indignant. His friends were simply applying the rule which he himself taught them.

The woman who is hyper-critical feels aggrieved because some speech of hers, which she intended as kindly as possible as it felt to her, was critically meant. She has no right to be aggrieved. Her friends are only seeing in her what she has taught them to look for.

When the boy of Aesop fame called for help at the approach of real danger, no one would believe him in earnest, because he had cried "wolf, wolf," in fun so many times that they thought he must be always mocking them.

In the same way, our daily habits teach people to expect certain things from us, and we have no right to complain when they judge some speech of act of ours in the light of this expectation, even if the judgment does happen to be incorrect.

They are acting in a perfectly logical way, and we have only ourselves to blame if we do not like the interpretation we have taught them to put upon us.

ARE LOVE LETTERS PRECIOUS?

(Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.)

Was there ever a girl who sat down to write a letter to her loved one who did not wonder if the letter would be as precious to him as his letters are to her?

Men are not given to writing affectionate letters unless they are much in love. Girls are apt to take such letters at their face value and reply to them with words equally as tender, from the depths of their unsophisticated hearts. A girl always believes that a man really means every word that he writes.

It men realized how the majority of young girls treasured their tenderly written words and how the lines were imbued with a sentiment scarcely intended, he would think twice ere he penned the words, "You are the only girl in the world for me!"

It is usually thinking of you. The girl is pretty sure to answer, "I am thinking of you, Charlie, and wishing that you were here again."

The absent man, if he cares for the girl, slips the letter into his breast pocket. And though he may be of unromantic temperament he finds himself slipping that page from the envelope and reading it a dozen times a day.

ANSWERS

SHE HAS NINE CHILDREN.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a married woman of 35. I have nine children. There is a young school teacher coming here at our house who seems to be gaining the affection of my husband. I have much to eat or not, he asks her to stay, and it greatly inconveniences me. I worry and harass me greatly when I see him bend over her with love in his eyes. When I speak to him about it he becomes angry and says, 'She's only a lady.' Your advice will be greatly appreciated. A FORGOTTEN WIFE."

"Don't you think that you exaggerate things? Better tell your husband frankly that you don't intend to go to the inconvenience of getting dinners for the girl when she comes there. Tell him that you have quite enough work to take care of in your regular duties without putting on extra work."

THEY QUARRELED.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 27. Have been keeping company with a young lady three years by junior. A week ago Sunday night we had a little difference and she suggested that we see each other no more. I did not think she was sincere when she said it, and told her that I felt the same way. In the matter I thought perhaps she would call me up and ask me to talk, but she did not. I met her one morning and she treated me very coolly. I wrote her a letter and told her that I still could not give up my love, she could at least show me a little respect. I feel that she cares a great deal for me, but she is just waiting for me to break the ice. She has not answered my letter. We are both of an independent disposition. Shall I call her up or do you think if she loves me she will call?"

A BROKEN-HEARTED MAN.
"I think I would call her up if I were you. There is no sense at all in indulging in foolish pride. It causes more heartaches than anything. Don't be a victim. Call the girl up if you care for her."

HE WANTS TO CALL.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 35 and good looking. My husband is 40 and handsome. He used to love me, but lately he has grown so cold. He is never satisfied with his meals and goes out in the evening. I do not know where or with whom, and leaves me alone. Now, there is a young man next door who would like very much to come over and keep me from being lonely, and I would like to have him come. Kindly advise me what to do."

Under no circumstances allow the fellow to call on you. You only will be subjecting yourself to unkind remarks.

INVITATION TO CALL.

"Dear Miss Libbey: When two people have met or are acquainted for some time isn't it correct for the girl to ask the fellow to call?"

It is the girl's privilege to ask the man to call on her.

In New York city 181,972 children between 14 and 18 years of age are now at work, 66,820 boys and 65,152 girls.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 15, 1882.

Quite a large number of Colorado Springs people flocked to the D. & R. G. station to see the first broad-gauge train pass through the city. The D. & R. G. had heretofore been narrow gauge, but a third rail had just been laid between Denver and Pueblo, so that broad-gauge trains could run over the track.

Bacon & Carr had assumed control of the Colorado Springs transfer business and were running the buses and express wagons to hotels and private houses. The free transportation of passengers between the stations and hotels had ceased.

Mrs. William Fernsworth, who lived at the corner of Pike's Peak avenue and Weber street, was awakened about 3 o'clock in the morning by an unusual noise in the house. She called for a dog which was in the house, and as she did so, a dark lantern was flushed in her face. The dog began to bark and a revolver in the hands of a burglar was discharged, but the burglar was frightened and made his escape without securing any booty.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 15, 1892.

A rich strike on the Lottie Gibson mine at Cripple Creek was reported. This mine is now part of the Stratton estate holdings.

Rev. C. W. Heister arrived in the city to take charge of the English Lutheran church.

J. C. Barney had gotten out an attractive book containing views and advertisements of Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region.

There was a considerable flurry in the stock of the Pharmacists mine at Cripple Creek, which was then selling at about 16 cents.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS XV—THE PEOPLE OF NICARAGUA

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

CORINTO, Nicaragua, April 22—

The people of Nicaragua, victims of so many generations of misrule with 17 years of Zelayaism as its climax, have reached that sad state when the traveler wonders whether they or their beasts of burden have the better lot in life. Where there is a submerged tenth in America, in Nicaragua it is a submerged nine-tenths.

The people have no education. Whatever of schools there are have been created in order that the government might use a lot of high-sounding language about education in the republic. "Viva Libertad" is a phrase which is a phrase to conjure with in Nicaragua.

Let a leader shout it and thousands gather beneath his banner. And yet the masses know about as little of true liberty as those of Persia. A fair election in Nicaragua has never been known, and until someone from the outside guarantees it, or until the nature of the Nicaraguan political changes, none ever will be known. Nothing in the way of sanitation, education, or governmental assistance has ever come to them. They have a hundred times been drafted into the armies of the rival revolutionary parties, taken away from their homes, and their work, and the effect of all this may be shown by the one significant fact that the population of Nicaragua has decreased more than one-half in 50 years!

Peon Must Take Wage Offered.

Contrast with the lot of the unfortunate masses, the condition of the ruling classes. They are almost without exception well-to-do, very often they are rich. The poor peon must work a whole day for them for less than 25 cents. If he is not willing to take the wage the alternative is starvation. And as hundreds of thousands are always hungry, no strike can ever secure better wages.

There has been one exception to this property of the ruling classes. During the endless procession of revolutions that have come and gone in Nicaragua, recruiting officers have visited every coffee finca, sugar plantation and mining village in the republic in search of men for the army. It was either a case of take it or leave it, or go to the army. Under those conditions the coffee and sugar growers and the mining men would have paid high prices for labor, but it was the coffee withered on the trees, the sugar cane remained uncut, the mineral continued in its place, and industry in general was ruined. It is true that all this for the time being caused losses to the property owning, ruling class, but future concessions always made up for it.

Perhaps the saddest fact about the whole situation of the masses in Nicaragua is the smiling and cheerful resignation with which they have borne their pitiable lot. Whether it has come from never having known anything better, or from a sort of stoic philosophy, it is hard to divine, but their good nature under their long suffering is a revelation in patience. They are a deeply religious people, and yet they seem to violate every principle of morality with which the word "religion" is associated in the American mind. Except in the small percentage of high caste families, marriage is all but a forgotten rite. The church and the state each declare that marriage ceremonies celebrated by the other are not good, and the masses believe them both. Zelaya once boasted that 55 per cent of the children of Nicaragua were illegitimate.

Gambling Spirit Reigns.

The people have the gambling spirit highly developed. They buy lottery tickets every week if they can get a centavo; they have cock-fights just as often as the supply of cocks will permit; they play keno at all hours of the day and night—and Nicaragua is a wide-open place from Corinto and San Juan del Sur to Bluefields and Greytown.

The children of Nicaragua are like Topsy indeed. There is no pretense of rearing them; they run as wild pigs and chickens, and live with such indifference to dirt that one begins to believe that man may become immune to all germs just as he does to some diseases. They grow up in ignorance, live wholly a hand-to-mouth existence from the cradle to the grave, and ultimately are carried to their graves in rented coffins, from which their bodies, wound in nothing but winding sheets, are tumbled into their graves.

Although, as stated above, in half a century the population of Nicaragua has been cut in twain, this cannot be attributed to race suicide. It is not considered wrong for a man to maintain a half dozen domestic establishments. He is criticized only if he attempts to maintain more homes than he can provide for. Some time since the son of one of the present candidates for president was asked how many brothers and sisters he had. He replied that he did not know, explaining, "You see we have so many mamma. Plenty of children are born, but disease and war cut their lives short."

Intensely Patriotic.

Notwithstanding the fact that the masses in Nicaragua have never received anything from the government but the privilege of paying for its maintenance and fighting for it or against it, they still are intensely patriotic and equally bitter against foreigners. They have heard the ruling element in Nicaragua talk so much about the United States and its people that they are not much in love with them. They cannot understand how any government should sympathize with them and they judge us as individuals by what they see of us in Nicaragua. And on the whole they are justified in the latter conclusion. There is a certain class of adventurers who leave the United States for their country's good, and they are always in evidence in countries like this. They like war and they try to bring it about. They are soldiers of fortune, who would not hesitate to cause rivers of blood to flow in order to get a coconcession. Just one incident illustrates the source of the popular anti-American feeling. The usual crowd of Americans were out for their share of sitting on the dilapidated railroad freight pier—the only diversion for the people of the capital city—when an American adventurer, drunk as a lord, took a pistol from his pocket and began to beat a native over the head because the latter failed to step out of his way. A crowd of native men and women were discussing the matter. A moment later, and one of the men remarked, "That is the way the Americans feel toward us."

Some Customs Peculiar.

There are some peculiar customs in official circles in Nicaragua. The legislative palace, which also houses all the ministries, abuts on one of the main streets.

FRESHMEN UPSET AT TRADITION AND HON UNINTERRUPTED DINNER

College traditions and the authority of seniors and sophomores were set at defiance last night at Colorado college, when 50 men of the freshman class held a banquet at the Alta Vista hotel. It is against all rules laid down by the upper classes for the first-year men to arrange such a gathering, and had it become known, the attack would have been broken up. The freshmen, for the first time in the history of the college, gave a banquet without interruption. The 50 men had

The dinner was served in the back dining room of the hotel with drawn curtains and no noise was allowed. Manager Husey, who had a guard of bellobas at the outer door, said that "he had decided to let them try it, but didn't know what might happen." The committee on arrangements was George Kaener, Judson Williams and William Argo. Charles Emery was toastmaster, and the speakers were: Dr. Witt Robinson, Harry Nourse, Edwin Chrysler, Chauncey Border, Judson Williams, Everett Munroe and Prof. Roger H. Motten.

NYE SELL'S FRANCHISE TO THE TULL ESTATE

S. N. Nye, manager of the Opera house, has sold the Colorado Springs franchise in the National Theater Owners association to the Colorado Springs Opera House company, which is controlled by the estate of the late Charles L. Tull. Although the consideration was not made public, it is understood to be in excess of $8,000.

The franchise in the association in this state are controlled by Peter McCortright, Denver, who is a close friend of Mr. Nye and has been associated with him in the theatrical business in Colorado for many years. Mr. Nye will continue as manager of the Opera house here and will book the same class of attractions that have always been shown.

James F. Burns and Mr. Nye started negotiations for the franchise several weeks ago, but they could not agree and the matter was dropped. The Colorado Springs Opera House company had contemplated purchasing the franchise about the time Mr. Burns and Mr. Nye were in conference but upon learning this held off until some definite settlement had been reached. When the company found that the two had dropped negotiations, it approached Mr. Nye with an offer for the franchise, and after several days an agreement was reached and the franchise transferred.

Mr. Nye has been in the theatrical business in Colorado Springs for more than 30 years, and it was he who built up the present theatrical circuit, which is now controlled by Mr. McCortright, who controls the circuit in the state.

Was Associated With Tabar.

"I was associated with Senator Tabar in Leadville to 1878," said Mr. Nye last night, "and that is how I happened to get into the theatrical business. Senator Tabar wanted to do something for Leadville, so he built a house there at about the time the local house was erected. After these two theaters were built I conceived the idea of establishing a theatrical circuit in Colorado, and one by one I got the various towns to build theaters until I had what was known later as the Silver circuit."

"Men in other states began to organize similar circuits, and soon the entire west was controlled in a theatrical way by the managers of these circuits. Peter McCortright came west about this time and eventually took charge of the Silver circuit."

"Later on the National Theater Owners association was organized, and the managers of the various circuits went into it, those holding franchises in the various towns on the circuit being included. The association was organized to protect the house and the attractions that came to it, not to create a monopoly in the business. This was the way in which I got control of the situation in Colorado Springs, and this was the way Peter McCortright got control in Denver."

"Of course, I could transfer this franchise at any time, but so long as I held it I was protected. I was not trying to buck anyone else here who wanted to manage a theater—I was simply protecting my house and my attractions. I would have sold to Mr. Burns but he would not consider my price."

MIDLAND MAKES CHANGES

J. A. Webb, for the last few years Colorado's prominent railroad agent and yardmaster at Colorado City, has been appointed by Superintendent M. L. Phelps to the same position at Woodland Park, the appointment to go into effect this morning.

Frank Harris, formerly chief clerk to Superintendent Phelps, will fill the position left vacant by Mr. Webb, and Leo A. Dorris, formerly chief clerk to Assistant Superintendent J. W. Spahr, will succeed Mr. Harris. Mr. Harris, before coming to Colorado City some time ago, was assistant superintendent of the Burlington with headquarters at Denver. M. F. Burrell has been appointed chief clerk to the assistant superintendent.

Mr. Phelps, who was only recently appointed superintendent of the Colorado Midland, is completely reorganizing the executive force.

This is the second time she has had the honor of heading her class, she being president during her freshman year.

Check Wrongfully Held Is Raised And Cashed, He Claims

Simon and Samuel Kranz of Colorado City are charged by David Clark with having defrauded him out of $175 by means of a check wrongfully obtained, and which he says they raised to that amount and cashed after forging the endorsement of a certain "Jack Gordon." The complaint in the case was filed in the district court yesterday.

Clark says that he went to the Kranz store, February 1, and requested Simon Kranz to cash a check. Kranz, consented, according to Clark, and told his younger brother, Samuel, to make out a check for $100 on the Capital National Bank of Denver. Clark signed this check, he says. The older Kranz then asked him how much money he wished. Upon his reply that he would like to get $125, he says that Simon Kranz pretended to tear up the first check and told his brother to make out another for the larger sum.

The check he supposed was destroyed was in reality kept, raised to $175, and cashed at the First National bank of Colorado City by Samuel Kranz, February 19, he alleges. He says he did not know of the fraud until March 1, when he discovered the spurious check among the canceled checks returned from the Denver bank.

The Kranzes refused to answer his letters concerning the check, he says, and refused to discuss the matter with him when he made a trip to Colorado City to see them. They also deny any knowledge of "Jack Gordon," Clark declares. He states that it is his belief that there is no such person; and that the name was an invention of the Kranzes.

In the complaint Clark asks for the $175 he says the Kranzes collected on the check, $75 attorney fees, $10.50 railroad fare and $30.50 for lost time. The Kranzes conduct a clothing store in Colorado City, and have always borne an excellent reputation.

REAL ESTATE MEN AID STATE ASSN. IN FIGHT

The real estate exchange, at its regular monthly luncheon at the Acacia hotel yesterday noon, made an appropriation to help the Colorado Realty Dealers association to initiate the bill to advance the state appropriation for the bureau of immigration from the fourth to the first class. The local members of the state association also have pledged themselves to help in the work of securing names to the petition.

At present the state gives about $8,000 for salaries and puts this appropriation in the first class. It also appropriates a certain amount for the work of the immigration bureau, but as this is in the fourth class, it is seldom available. The state association wants the salary appropriation cut down and a part of it given to the bureau of immigration, since its officers are paid from the salary appropriation, but they have no funds with which to do this.

At the meeting yesterday it was also decided to discontinue the regular monthly meetings during the summer months. The next regular meeting will be held in September.

POSTMASTERS MEET

John F. Morgan of Colorado City, president of the Colorado Association of Postmasters, and Alex J. Strachan of this city made addresses before the annual meeting of the postmasters which opened at the Albany hotel in Denver yesterday. Mr. Morgan talked on "City Delivery for All Offices of the Second Class" and Mr. Strachan on "Railway Postal Clerks."

In practically every office in the state a big increase in receipts was noted last year, and every postmaster says he is going to break the record this year.

The association held its annual banquet at the Albany last night, and the business session will be continued to-day, closing tonight.

SHRINERS IN SPRINGS

The first of the special trains of Shriners, en route to their homes in the east from the imperial council of the order in Los Angeles, last week, arrived in Colorado Springs late yesterday afternoon. It was Medina temple special, from Chicago, and carried more than 100 passengers. It will leave over the Denver & Rio Grande tomorrow.

Within the next few days several hundred Shriners are expected to visit the Pike Peak region, spending from one to five days here. While only a few special trains are scheduled to stop in this city, many small parties will come here for a few days' sight-seeing.

The divorce suit brought by Elise Vassen against Gustave Vassen, in the county court, yesterday was continued until Friday. Testimony and arguments were heard by Judge Little, yesterday, and Vassen was ordered to pay his wife $25 for attorney's fees.

Both parties to the suit are seeking the custody of their 7-year-old child, Jeanne. The father charges that Mrs. Vassen ran a way from their home in Pennsylvania in company with another man, while she alleges that his cruel treatment was the cause of her leaving him. Vassen's suit for the custody of the child will be heard in conjunction with the divorce action.

The Vassens are Belgians, and were married in that country in 1896. The Belgian consul at Denver acted as interpreter at the trial. Vassen's parents are reputed to be wealthy.

A charter has been granted by the American Federation of Labor to the Footlocks Protective union of Fresno, Cal.

Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS WILL BE REPEATED IN CITY

The favor with which the Y. M. C. A. circus was received on its last appearance in Colorado Springs has caused the management to postpone the breaking of winter quarters for a tour of Kansas; until a second performance can be given in this city. The animals have suffered but little during the recent snowstorm, and the acrobats are as limber as before.

Accordingly, Friday and Saturday, May 24 and 25, have been set for the reappearance of the circus at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. These dates may be changed, though the performances will, certainly, be given. New features will be provided, intended to interest those who want to see the circus again.

Prof. Hart to Address College Vespers Sunday

The vesper services at Colorado college next Sunday afternoon will be addressed by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard, the exchange professor at the college. His subject has not been announced.

The lectures on American history by Professor Hart will continue in Palmer hall, this morning at 8:15 o'clock, tomorrow at 9:40 o'clock and Friday at 10:35. The lectures Tuesday and Thursday evenings will be given at 8:15 in Perkins hall.

MUSIC RECITAL FOR STATE COLORED SCHOOL TOMORROW

A musical recital will be given at Temple theater tomorrow evening by colored people of Colorado Springs and Pueblo, for the benefit of the Colorado Industrial school at Pueblo. This school started a year ago, and has been successful in helping young colored people gain an education.

The numbers will be given by colored singers and players, many of whom are highly recommended.

CONSIDER LIQUOR LICENSES

The city council today will take action on six liquor licenses, those of the El Paso, Pike Peak, Driving and Elks clubs, the Authors hotel and the Colorado Springs Drug company. Acting Mayor Lawton will preside at the council meeting, because of the absence of Mayor Avery.

TERRORS AND PREPS WILL CLASH FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

By IRVIN BRUCE

The Terrors and the Boulder Props will clash on Washburn field May 25, for the state interscholastic championship. This is the fourth time that the Terrors have met the Props in the championship, but they have never yet been able to wrench the much-coveted honor away from the northern part of the state.

Couch Stewart has taken the Terrors and done what no other Terror baseball coach has been able to do, that is, have the Terrors meet every team in the league and not let a defeat be chalked up against them. When the season opened the coach had but three veterans beside the captain from which to develop his team. He took a green bunch of inexperienced players and moulded them into one of the fastest interscholastic baseball machines that has ever represented a high school team in the state. His team has been hitting and fielding better than any Terror team with the possible exception of crack team of 1910.

When the Terrors and the Props meet on Washburn field it will be the second time that the two teams have met for the state interscholastic honors in the last three years. In that memorable battle on Gamble field, in 1910, the Terrors took the short end of a 3 to 1 score. In one of the most exciting games that has ever been played in the northern part of the state.

This season the Terrors have been getting revenge on the teams for their defeats of last season. The Terrors will enter the Prep game with more determination than has ever characterized a Terror baseball team. Every man will be up on his toes from the opening of the first frame until the last man is out in the ninth, for the Terrors realize that they have the best chance that they have ever had to win the state title.

In the Props, the Terrors are meeting a team that can hold its own with the majority of the college teams of the state. The team from the northern part of the state has it on the Terrors in age and experience, two factors which count materially in a high school game.

The Props boast of one of the best batteries in the state, which is composed of Nairn and Reiney. Prep supporters claim that this pair is the equal of any college battery in the state, but it is generally conceded that they will meet their equals in Evans, Fowler and Johns, the men who compose the Terror artillery.

Eagle Raps at Knockers

This is how the Wichita Eagle goes after the fans in the Kansas city who are knocking the home team.

It might be well to call the attention of a number of people who think that some of the tactics beginning to appear in both bleachers and grandstand at the local ball lot are just the same as what was put on exhibit on the Western league to stay. It was a bunch of cheap two-bit gamblers who couldn't stand to lose like the sports they imagined they were, who drove Clyde Jarnagin and Jimmy Durham out of Pueblo and made it so unpleasant for the rest of the boys that no one wanted to go back there this year.

Wichita has been decidedly free of this paltry gambling heretofore, and it is to be regretted if it is beginning to develop here now. A home man who goes out with the intention of knocking the home team if they happen to play on a ball game can never be classed as a true fan, and the fellow who bets two bits on a ball game and then goes out and roars over everything that happens in the game.

Philadelphia Girl Makes New Record

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The feat of swimming a mile in 33 minutes and 17 seconds, in a 60-foot pool, which has assisted 88 turns, has given Miss Helen Rawley, daughter of a Philadelphia broker, high place among the women athletes in this section. The new record, which was made in a practice tank, tops almost seven seconds from the best woman's record for the mile. Miss Rawley has started training for a 10-mile swim, from Philadelphia to Chester, and hopes to accomplish it next July.

KILBANE OUTPOINTS FRANKIE BURNS IN TEN FAST ROUNDS

NEW YORK, May 14.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, featherweight champion, outpointed Frankie Burns of Gray City, in a fast 10-round bout, last night.

At the ringside Kilbane weighed 125, and Burns, 122 pounds.

Burns had the better of the first five rounds. Otherwise, it was all Kilbane. For the greater part of the battle, Burns only used his left, while Kilbane used both hands to body and head, with telling effect. The champion's footwork enabled him to evade several well-aimed blows, and a sidestepping and ducking, Kilbane made Burns miss repeatedly.

In the third round, Kilbane landed a left to the face and a hard right uppercut, which drew blood from Burns' mouth. Burns kept putting lefts to the stomach, but the blows did not seem to affect Kilbane.

In the sixth, Burns put a hard

Bronson And Packey May Mix May 30

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 14.—As a curtain raiser for the world's greatest automobile race, the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race, to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial day, May 30, Packey McFarland of Chicago, and Ray Bronson of Indianapolis, will fight 10 rounds in a specially built arena at the Indianapolis American association baseball park the night of May 29. The fight is to be held under the auspices of the Indianapolis Athletic club.

The articles of agreement state that the fighters are to weigh 128 pounds at noon the day of the bout, which is a compromise weight, Bronson having asked to be allowed to come in at 142 pounds, his regular fighting weight. McFarland, at first, demanded the weight of 135 pounds at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, but conceded the two hours time against Bronson's four pounds of weight.

The Hoosier and Stockyard's favorite have mixed once before, having fought 20 rounds to a draw, September 19, 1909, at New Orleans. Both are heavier and faster now than then and the battle will be one of the big pugilistic cards of the warm weather season. The fact that nearly 100,000 persons are gathered from all parts of the United States to witness the great automobile race the next day, indicates that the crowd which will attend this bout, will be one of the largest ever seen in an arena of the middle-west.

HEALTH BOARD FAVORS NATIONAL PASTIME

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 14.—That the state board of health is an ardent advocate of the national game of baseball is shown by the latest official bulletin of the board, the leading article of which stated:

"Within another month the street car service on the lines to the ball grounds will have to be increased. This is as it should be. It is fortunate and inevitable that the nation should go to the game.

"Consider the individual who has dropped for the moment his disappointments of the past and anxieties for the future: he is sitting on a bench in the elastic air and equally with other hundreds; he reacts to the muscular activity of making noise with his feet and his lungs; the traffic in the oxygen and food supply for which his blood exists is brisk, and he goes home with a good appetite, and prepared for refreshing sleep."

TYRUS IS SECOND IN U. S. LEAGUE

"Home Run" Baker put one over on his old rival for baseball honors, Ty Cobb, and Postmaster General Hitchcock is being blamed by the friends of the "Georgia Peach" for it. Orders were issued at the postoffice department changing the name of the office at Cobb, Fla., to Baker. Whether Baker's remarkable showing in the world's series had anything to do with the change is not stated, but anyhow the followers of Cobb are indignant at the action of the department. The score between the two men now stands 13 to 5 in favor of Baker. There are 13 offices named Baker, while Cobb has the honor of having but five named for him.

MULLEN HOLDS NEW YORKERS SAFE

NEW YORK, May 14.—Detroit defeated New York today in the third game of the series. Mullen held the locals to four hits. Caldwell held the Detroitans down, but was wild.

Ryan and DuCray Both Fit; Bout Tonight Will Be Fast

Match at Temple Is for State Mat Title

Tonight the state wrestling championship may change hands. If "Our Own" Tommy Ryan wins two out of three falls from the present title holder, Frank DuCray, at Temple theater tonight it means that the crown will be brought back to Colorado Springs.

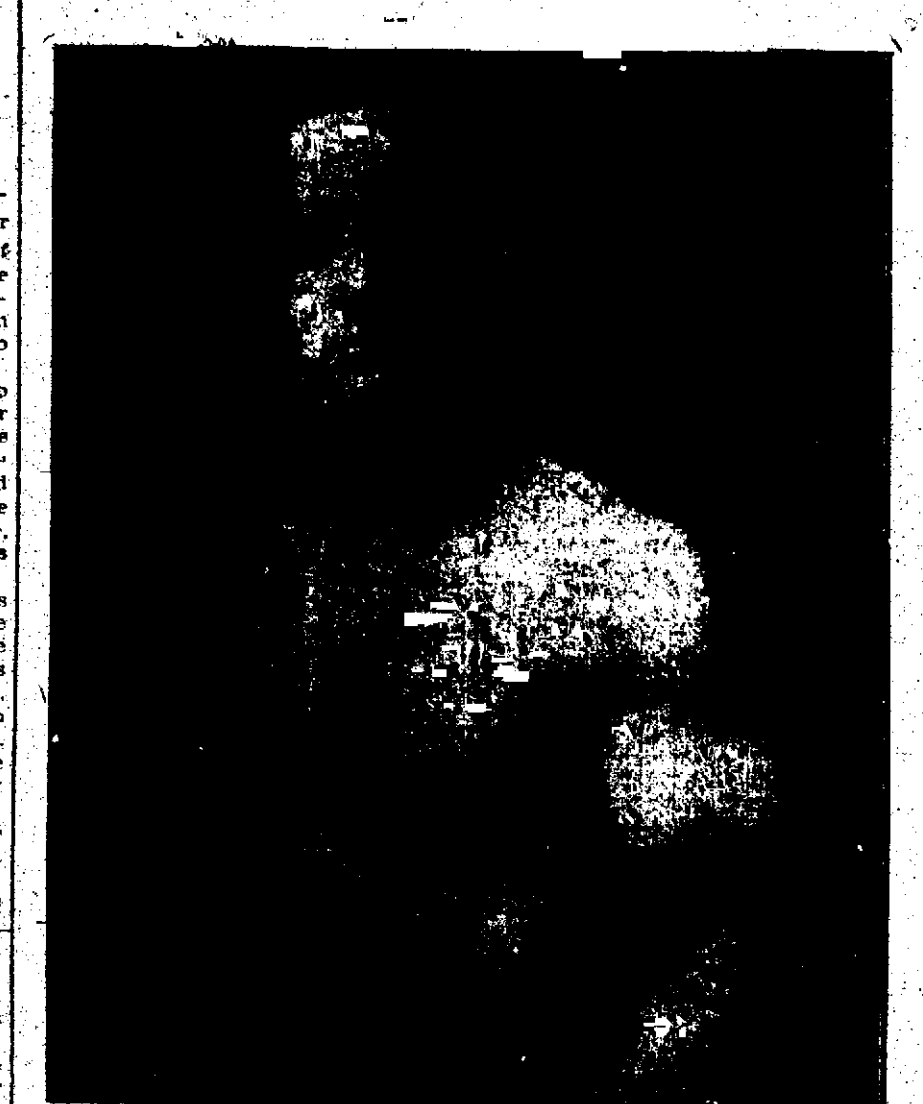

Ryan captured the championship from the Grand Junction giant in their first meeting here, but DuCray "came back" in their second bout and regained the title. Now each has a real line on the other's game and there will be displayed tonight all the science, skill and strength these two huskies are capable of.

The first of the two fast preliminaries which have been arranged will be called at 8:30, which will bring on the main bout less than an hour later. As practically every seat is ringside, everyone will have a great chance to see the fine points of the match. Ladies, accompanied by escorts, will be admitted free. The seat sale already has been large.

DuCray owns a big fruit farm in the Grand valley. He will leave within a few weeks for a tour of the east, in which he will meet all comers at his weight. He will be gone several months. The Grand Junction man is in the best of shape physically, and declares that if he loses tonight he will have no excuses to offer. He informs The Gazette that he has received a letter from Dr. Roller, the Seattle physician-wrestler, in which Roller states that he is planning a tour of the west and may be in Colorado Springs about the middle of July. DuCray and Roller have met in two handicap matches, each winning one.

Tommy Ryan, the Colorado Springs aspirant to the state light-heavyweight title, was some "light" trotter in his younger days. He is now 24 years old. Born near Edinburgh, he left Scotland when 12 years old. When a young man he traveled throughout Europe, visiting nearly every country on the continent. He has been in Australia, South Africa and South America. He was in Paris at the time of the exposition; in South Africa during the Boer war, and boxed in Australia a year and a half. He crossed South America from Valparaiso to the Atlantic, and played football with the Manchester, England, team against the soldiers at Gibraltar. He was a member of the Manchester rugby team for three years, and was considered one of the fastest players ever enrolled in that noted collection of gridiron warriors.

DU CRAY, STATE CHAMPION

Ryan first took up the wrestling game 13 years ago. He also is a fighter of no mean power, and last August winning the heavy-weight championship of the south at Chattanooga.

Ryan's wrestling record is hard to duplicate. In the 24 months before coming here he won 54 consecutive bouts. Since his arrival in the west no one has put his shoulders to the mat except DuCray and Carl Decker, the 195-pound giant, in Wilmington, N.

SECRET OF HENDRICKS' SUCCESS IS HARMONY

By JINA YOUNG KELLEY

DENVER, May 14.—In a certain sense, the secret of the success of the Denver Grizzlies is harmony. It is the secret of the success of the team, which has played long enough and well enough to secure its place year after year in the same club. The secret is harmony, and it is the secret of the success of the team, which has played long enough and well enough to secure its place year after year in the same club.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 14.—Dealers in stock exchange today were devoted largely to the specialties and other minor issues, to the neglect of standard shares. Lumber, Valley and Reading contributed their usual share of activity with only strength in the United States Steel took its old place as a leader, transactions exceeding those in any other issue, at a material profit gain.

Other movements of note included Canadian Pacific, which rose to 26 1/2, thereby eclipsing previous records; International Harvester, which advanced 1/2 point on rumors of an approaching settlement of its dissolution suit, and Sears-Roebuck, which touched its best quotation for the year on relatively large transactions.

In the railway group, Minneapolis & St. Paul, which had been in a decline, was active at better prices, with gains of a point in New York Central, Union Pacific and Louisville and Nashville. Rock Island, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Wheeling & Lake Erie, still preferred, and a few other stocks that are seldom quoted, reflected moderate buying activity, with a better tone to Union Pacific.

The light demand for money here continues and some concessions from recent quotations are being made. Bonds were irregular. A rise of almost a point in the 4 1/2 per cent bonds of the Dupont Powder company was the one feature. Total sales, par value, $2,827,000.

Panama is registered declined 1/2 per cent on call.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, May 14.—Active demand here today for spot delivery of wheat, the market was strong. The price of wheat, which had been in a decline, was active at better prices, with gains of a point in New York Central, Union Pacific and Louisville and Nashville. Rock Island, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Wheeling & Lake Erie, still preferred, and a few other stocks that are seldom quoted, reflected moderate buying activity, with a better tone to Union Pacific.

The light demand for money here continues and some concessions from recent quotations are being made. Bonds were irregular. A rise of almost a point in the 4 1/2 per cent bonds of the Dupont Powder company was the one feature. Total sales, par value, $2,827,000.

Panama is registered declined 1/2 per cent on call.
